Guardsmen On Standby, Not Needed

BY DON MCKEE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of white pupils went to class in integrated Birmingham schools today with no disorders reported.

The same situation existed in desegregated schools at Mobile, Tuskegee and Huntsville.

Federalized National Guardsmen at Birmingham were on a standby, ready to go on school property only if asked by city and school officials.

No major crowds congregated on the grounds of West End High, where hundreds of white pupils and some adult demonstrators, created disorders Tuesday which brought nine arrests.

Ordered to Enter

The two Negro pupils entered West End a half hour before class time. Police required white boys and girls to enter the building upon arrival or leave the vicinity.

About 200 white pupils massed in a yard near the school. They attempted first to congregate on the football field but police chased them away. Adult pickets who wanted to stage a march near the school were halted by police.

A caravan of cars bearing states rights demonstrators rolled by the school but police refused to let them stop. The cars bore the usual Confederate flags and anti-Negro signs.

High and Graymont Elementary, the other desegregated city schools, at Ramsay a police captain urged pupils: "Please go into classes — you'll be doing me a favor by doing so."

At Mobile, there was a mild vocal demonstration when two Negroes went to integrated classes for the second day. The chanting of "We don't want to integrate" was heard.

Kennedy Fared Well in Crisis On Integration

Federal Force Not Needed to Enforce Edicts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration today reviewed its role in its latest clash with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and decided it had fared pretty well, all things considered. The federal government had been able to enforce court orders integrating schools in three Alabama cities without resorting to federal force.

With a bit of carefully planned paperwork — the federalizing of National Guardsmen summoned to duty earlier by Wallace himself — it was able to get the soldiers out of the picture entirely.

A government source close to the inner workings of the federal-state conflict said the drama may not be over and Wallace may uncoil some new maneuver. But he made it clear the administration was highly pleased with the day's outcome — especially so because the job of maintaining peace in Birmingham, Tuskegee and Mobile was solidly in the hands of local police officers. Soldiers were nowhere in sight.

Elaborate Plans

The central government had devised elaborate plans for more than a week to meet any possible Wallace move, the source said. He indicated that the avowed segregationist governor kept the administration guessing at every turn in his battle to keep the Negroes out of the schools.

Russell Fears Disarmament Without On-Site Inspection

Georgia Democrat Gives Reason For Opposing Test Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell expressed fear today that the limited nuclear test-ban treaty might point the way toward world disarmament without on-site inspection.

"No one is more in favor of disarmament than I am," said the Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee before the Senate began its third day of formal debate on the pact.

"I would be willing to abolish all nuclear weapons. But we are giving up the conception of on-site inspection in this treaty and we'll never be able to revive it."

Thus, Russell added, he decided to oppose ratification of the ban on all but underground blasts because he fears "we may be trapping ourselves into disarmament without ironclad guarantees that the Russians are doing likewise."

The United States has insisted on-site inspection is necessary to detect sneak underground blasts precisely. So far as the testing environments prohibited by the treaty are concerned — the atmosphere, outer space and underwater — the government contends that most tests could be detected without on-site inspection. President Kennedy has assured the military chiefs, meanwhile, that detection systems will be sharpened while the treaty is in effect.

Still, Russell maintained, "I'm afraid that, with world pressure on us, we might agree sometime in the future to stop underground testing without demanding inspection."

Amplifying his concern, he said: "Once we have ratified this

No Limitations Put On Our Use of Nuclear Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy told the Senate today that the limited nuclear test ban treaty in no way limits his authority to use nuclear weapons for the defense of the United States or its allies.

In a letter, Kennedy also gave "unqualified and unequivocal assurances" that the safeguards urged by the military Joint Chiefs of Staff would be fully carried out.

The President's letter was addressed to Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader.

Kennedy wrote he trusted his assurances would be "helpful in dispelling any concern or misgivings which any member of the Senate or citizen may have as to our determination to maintain the interests and security of the United States."

"It is not only safe but necessary, in the interest of this country and the interest of mankind, that this treaty should now be approved, and the hope for peace which it offers firmly sustained, by the Senate of the United States," Kennedy wrote.

U. S., Red Chinese Ambassadors Meet

Envoys Exchange Curt Smiles, Half Bows in Rare Get-Together

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The envoy did so with a nod and smile. Outsiders left the room before the two ambassadors opened their manila folders of instructions for the talk, details of which, by agreement, almost never are made public.

Ambassadors John Moors Cabot and Wang Ping-nan had the start of their face-to-face meeting in Warsaw's Mysliewski Palace film by a local television crew at the request of Western news media.

Newsmen, for probably the first time since the talks began in Geneva in 1955, were allowed into the meeting room to actually witness a brief exchange by the two ambassadors.

Cabot and Wang stood behind polished tables 10 feet apart, each flanked by three aides. They exchanged curt smiles and half bows.

Cabot then asked Wang to confirm that it was all right for the scene to be filmed. The Chinese ambassador replied with a nod and smile.

The meeting was the first since the two ambassadors met in Geneva in 1955.

Soviet-Baiting Tactics By Red Chinese Aimed At Breaking Party Ties

Russians Displaying a Patience That Must Be Galling to Nikita

BY GEORGE SVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — Red China's current Soviet-baiting campaign apparently is aimed at provoking the Kremlin to break state or party ties with Peking. So far Moscow has not risen to the bait.

Seemingly to sense danger, the Russians are displaying a patience that must be galling to fiery-tempered Premier Khrushchev.

Aside from propaganda attacks linking Khrushchev with the "imperialist enemy," the Red Chinese put on a rowdy two-day demonstration on the Soviet-Chinese border in Siberia last week that outraged the Russians.

The government newspaper Izvestia told its readers Tuesday what it said went on at Naushki, a border point, when the Peking-Moscow Express crossed from China Friday.

Chinese passengers openly displayed their anger.

Guerrillas Hit Viet Nam Towns

Bloodiest Fighting In Many Months Erupts in South

CAI NUOC, South Viet Nam (AP) — Massive Communist guerrilla forces launched coordinated attacks on government towns widely scattered over Viet Nam's southern tip Tuesday and set off the bloodiest fighting in the area in many months.

This district capital temporarily was overrun by the Viet Cong and Dam Doi, 20 miles away, was burned and sacked.

Air strikes and a pitched battle fought between a Vietnamese marine battalion and fleeing guerrillas reportedly cost the enemy more than 100 killed. About 60 enemy bodies were counted by U.S. advisors.

Improvised Morgue District headquarters at Dam Doi was converted today into an improvised morgue, where relatives came to claim bodies.

The U.S. Aid Mission rushed 4,000 emergency kits to survivors in the towns, including medicine, food and clothing.

In pre-dawn attacks, the Viet Cong threw about 500 well-armed guerrillas each at Dam Doi and Cai Nuoc. The Communists also cut the road between the provincial capital of Cau Mau and the north, and attacked about six outposts.

A U.S. Air Force captain was seriously wounded by accident while blowing up the wreck of a Vietnamese air force fighter shot down in the operations Tuesday.

His name was withheld.

Weapons losses on both sides were heavy.

Thuc Leaves Rome, Told To Keep Quiet

Vatican Troubled By Diem Crackdown Against Buddhists

ROME (AP) — Archbishop Pierre Martin Ngo Dinh Thuc, brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam, abruptly left Rome today and said the Vatican had ordered him to stop talking about the situation in his country.

Pope Paul Thuc

The archbishop left on a plane bound for New York 24 hours after cancellation of an audience with Pope Paul VI. The Vatican is reportedly troubled by the recent crackdown on Buddhists by the Diem government.

Before boarding his flight he told newsmen: "I am not allowed to make any declarations owing to the veto imposed upon me by the Holy See."

Can't Speak Out

"I have been told, in effect, 'basta' (enough) because my position doesn't allow me to express myself, especially in a foreign country. To be able to speak out it would be necessary for me to have in hand a permit from the Vatican secretariat of state. Only in my own diocese may I speak."

The archbishop, center of controversy since he arrived from Saigon five days ago, had said earlier he had no intention of leaving Rome this month. He said he would stay for the resumption of the Vatican Ecumenical Council Sept. 29.

Red Tape, Excessive Washington Control

Farland Cites Disregard for Human Dignity, Waste in U. S. Foreign Aid

BY LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph S. Farland, resigning as ambassador to Panama, said today U. S. aid to Latin America would accomplish more if applied with greater concern for individual dignity and less for bureaucratic planning.

In an interview, Farland cited red tape, a lack of competent aid administration, excessive control from Washington and unduly grandiose planning among aid deficiencies he said he found in three years as U.S. envoy to Panama.

A spokesman for the Agency for International Development, which administers aid to Latin America through the Alliance for Progress program, disputed Farland's statements. He said no Panamanian aid project was undertaken "which did not have the diplomatic service as an Eisenhower administration appointee. He resigned Aug. 2 amid differences with the Kennedy administration, although he said they were not major policy differences.

Farland held open the possibility that he might run for political office, although he said he has no specific plans for this at present and no political organization behind him. A onetime FBI agent, he was a Morgantown lawyer and coal executive before joining the State Department in 1956.

An ambassador to the Dominican Republic in 1957-60 before going to Panama, Farland said he has turned down an offer of a career foreign service appointment because "I want very much to serve my country" and "I felt

Packers' Game Influences Date Of Open House

Appleton Board Sets Nov. 10 for Tours Of Johnston School

The Appleton Board of Education Monday struggled to fit an open house date for the new Johnston School into the Green Bay Packers schedule.

The board decided attendance would be better on Nov. 10, when the Packers play the Minnesota Vikings in Green Bay, rather than on Nov. 17, when the Packers' game with the Chicago Bears in Chicago is televised.

Tickets are scarce for the home game and it will not be televised locally, the board reasoned.

Definite Effect

Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz suggested Nov. 17 for the open house but reminded the board of possible conflicts with the Packers schedule. Director of Business Affairs William Knuth said a televised game had definitely affected attendance at the Edison School open house two years ago. "Perhaps we could borrow 10 or 12 television sets and scatter them around the building," suggested board member John Schneider.

How Many?

"If the parents are interested, they would miss one quarter of the game," said board member Gregory Schulte.

"But how many quarters must

Plan Set Up to End Algerian Elections

ALGERIA (AP)—Belated by approval of a new constitution, Algeria's ruling party has launched a campaign to do away with the formality of elections Sunday and name Premier Ahmed Ben Bella president by acclamation.

Board member Victor Sumnicht suggested the Nov. 10 date since "no one can find tickets—at least I couldn't."

New members were introduced at both meetings. The Afternoon municipal court in Appleton for the Oct. 4 meeting has transportation are to be made with Mrs. Joseph Vandelo.

The Evening group planned to bear a talk at the Oct. 3 meeting by Mrs. John Goska, dietitian at Soviet Ambassador Cites Desire to End Differences With U. S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Nikolai T. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, says his country is determined to overcome U.S.-Soviet differences and cooperate in the peaceful uses of outer space.

But he said the Soviet Union still will insist that any international agreement covering space exploration bar the use of so-called spy satellites. The United States has long argued that this cannot be separated from disarmament issues.

Irritable Psoriasis Has Illogical Habits

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What about psoriasis? I have this trouble.

—H. L.

There isn't much helpful information I can give about this skin disease. First, there is no known successful treatment for it. Many have been tried, and sometimes they seem to work. More often, however, they fail.

Molner

Psoriasis has the illogical habit of coming and going without apparent reason. Thus we do not know whether a "treatment" really helped, or whether the psoriasis was ready to subside anyway.

The ailment, although common, is not transmitted. It does no harm except that it itches and is a skin blemish.

But we don't know what causes it, and we don't know what will cure it. Under these circumstances, let your doctor (or better, your skin specialist) prescribe one of the several medications which might succeed, or which probably will relieve the spasmodic itch but don't worry about it, and don't be surprised if he can't cure it.

Hay Fever Emulsion

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you approve of the one shot emulsion for hay fever?

—MRS. J. S.

I approve of whatever type your allergist has found to be the most successful. Both the one-shot and the conventional type have been effective.

Buttermilk Value

Dear Dr. Molner: What food value is there in an 8-ounce glass of buttermilk?

—K. E. D.

About 85 calories, as compared with 166 for whole milk. Buttermilk is rich in calcium and phosphorus. It contains 35 per cent protein, about 5 per cent carbohydrate, and very little fat. Because of low fat content it is low in Vitamin A, has only a trace of B1, M2, C, and iron, but it is good for calorie-watchers.

Brand Names

Dear Dr. Molner: What are trade names for "dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate"?

—E. B.

Colace, Diatose, Dioneucone, Dorbantyl, Doxan, Doxinate, Doxinate with Dantron, Evac-U-8, Lincinate, Milkol, Peri-Colace, Senokap, Synelax, and Terminalal.

by active women of 67 and am still having menstrual periods. Is this abnormal? I have no regular doctor.

—B. J. H.

If these are true "menstrual periods," you are indeed unusual. Therefore my fear is that this is bleeding from some other cause, and I urge that you see a doctor at once.

Cancer Communication?

Dear Dr. Molner: My aunt, who just had a second operation for cancer and is not expected to live very long, visited us and touched our three-month-old baby, and I am worried sick. Could she possibly "give" my baby anything?

—MRS. C. C.

Please stop worrying, because cancer cannot be transmitted that way. It is not communicable. (The same applies to leukemia.)

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr.

Expatriate Says He Plans Return To United States

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Expatriate Ezra Pound says he hopes to visit his native United States again soon because things have changed.

The controversial 77-year-old poet was indicted on treason charges in World War II for pro-fascist broadcasts in Italy but was never brought to trial on grounds he was mentally incompetent to defend himself. He was confined to a mental institution in Washington, D.C., from 1946 to 1958, when he was returned to Italy. Pound insisted he had committed no betrayal and in April 1958 the treason charges were dismissed.

Problem of Loose Tile

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We installed rubber tile over the concrete slab in our kitchen. The tile doesn't seem to adhere to the concrete, but keeps coming loose. We have no basement or crawl space under our house, the concrete is poured directly on the ground. How can we get the tile to adhere permanently?

A: A special type of waterproof adhesive must be used for rubber tile on concrete in contact with the ground. This should be available at your tile dealer.

Q: The middle-aged home we recently moved into has one wall of plasterboard, where the dining area was partitioned off. Could we put plaster over the plasterboard?

A: Yes. If the plasterboard is firmly and solidly installed. First, fasten self-furring metal lath to the plasterboard, being sure the fasteners are applied to studs or joists, if applied to unbacked plasterboard fasteners won't hold permanently but will loosen under strain. Then apply the plaster.

Q: A can of evaporated milk was accidentally knocked over and spilled on the tablecloth, dripping down on my son's jeans. How can this stain be removed?

A: This type of stain (containing protein) needs immediate treatment. Try one of the following methods: Sponge stain with non-flammable liquid spot remover to remove any grease, being sure room is well ventilated. When spot remover has evaporated, sponge area with cold water, to remove water-soluble ingredients. Or, if the stain has dried (which I assume it has), sponge and soak in lukewarm water and mild detergent. If stain isn't completely removed, use a digesting enzyme, such as pepsin, as follows: moisten stain with warm water, adding a little vinegar. Then sprinkle stain with powdered pepsin, keeping area moist in warm place to speed enzyme action. In 15 minutes to three hours stain should rinse out with warm water.

Q: Several bats have gotten into our attic. How can we get rid of them and prevent their return?

A: To get bats out of an attic or elsewhere, close all possible crevices through which they might enter. They can be driven out by burning a sulphur candle (be very careful of the fire hazard). A colorless gelatinous preparation used for discouraging unwanted birds from roosting spread on the bats' roosting areas in the attic, will also discourage these animals. It is not harmful but is unpleasant to their feet. The product is available at large garden supplies dealers and some hardware stores.

Medicine Man Still Fools Us

The Medicine Man, minus his top hat, is still with us in our modern day of knowledge. He's selling his potions and remedies at your doorstep, on lecture platforms, and through the mail.

At present he's appealing to health conscious Americans with his food supplement. The faddist cries out that you and your family aren't getting enough nutrients in your diet. You need his expensive pills, powders, and liquids to guard against or cure "that tired feeling," anemia, or aging before your time.

Healthy Enough Americans today are probably the healthiest people in the world with the most nutritious food supply of any country.

An average daily diet supplies all the nutrients any normal person needs. When an excess is taken in the body simply eliminates it. In most cases food supplements are harmless. They won't help or hurt you; they just cost a large sum of money which can be used more wisely in other ways.

Harm may be done by self-diagnosis. The faddists attribute any physical feelings other than normal to a dietary deficiency. They say that tiredness is due to iron deficiency anemia. This may be true, but tiredness can also be caused by boredom, overwork, or serious diseases. Your doctor is the only qualified person to diagnose your symptoms. By trying to treat yourself you can delay the proper treatment and cause yourself needless illness and waste of money.

Food faddists are famous for their wonder foods which have

SEAMS TO ME Questions On Sewing

By Patricia Scott

Q: I'm planning another winter coat and I want to avoid the same mistake I made last year. Where I made darts on the coat, the interfacing and the lining, there is a great deal of bulk. How do I eliminate this? Leave out one of the darts?—MRS. T. McC.

A: Eliminate the bulk by 1) marking the dart on the interfacing, 2) slashing the interfacing on the straight center line of the dart, 3) overlapping the flashed edges so the two slant-seam and keeps it from stretching. It also gives a smooth finish to a dress that is to be worn without a belt.

Q: Almost every dress I make with a low neckline gaps in the back. How can I prevent this?—MRS. V. L.

A: Try raising the back bodice piece at the shoulder line. Pin up the extra fabric at the shoulder seam on the back piece only and gradually taper into the sleeve seam allowance. If this is not quite enough and you have a center back seam, you can pin out a bit more of the extra fabric at the back seam. However, be sure to keep the grainline straight.

Q: Some instructions suggest baste-stitching by machine to save time. How do you regulate the stitch?—MISS N. K.

A: Adjust the regulator to the longest stitch. To remove the stitches snip the bobbin thread every few stitches and pull out the short threads. Don't pull the entire length of thread because you may leave marks on the fabric.

Q: Whenever I have to press seams toward a facing before it is turned, I never get a good clean crease on the right side. Do you have any trick for this?—MRS. H. T.

A: Before you press the seam toward the garment press it open as you normally would. Then press it in the direction it should go.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column but because of the great volume of mail received daily she cannot answer individual letters. (Copyright, 1963) ed stitching lines meet, 4) stitching along the stitching line (see illustration).

A: This reinforces the waistline.

"many amazing benefits." A good example of this is the gelatin now on the market guaranteed to grow beautiful fingernails. The manufacturer claims that the gelatin contains the needed protein for strong and healthy nails. This claim is true — as far as it goes. It does contain protein, however so does milk, meat and cheese. Gelatin is an incomplete protein, which means it doesn't contain all the amino acids which man needs. Milk, meat and cheese, however, all contain complete protein.

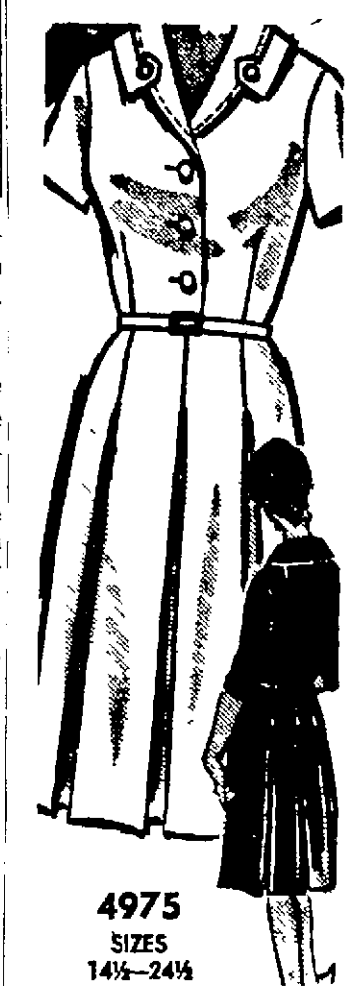

Once in the body all the protein digestive products go to a central pool and are distributed throughout the body as needed. Therefore no matter from what food the protein comes it won't necessarily go right to your fingernails.

The way to recognize the "wonder foods" for what they are is to look closely at the labels and advertising. Note if the food is a cure-all or will perform "miracles" in your body. Emotional appeals to make you healthy and beautiful or to cure both high or low blood pressure or to give relief from diarrhea and constipation may be other claims.

Your Problems

Ann Says Ignore Gossips; Tongues Wag Without Reason

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has been an executive with his company for many years. He has had the same secretary from the day he started. I know she is extremely valuable to him. He recently accepted a position with another firm and will be leaving November 15. He wants to take his secretary with him.

The secretary is married to a nice man and I can bet my life there is nothing between her and my husband except business. Never once in the many years they have worked together have I had cause to be suspicious. But I feel strongly that it would be improper to take the woman along because people do gossip and I don't think he should supply them with this juicy material. Do you agree — yes or no? — S-4

Dear S-4: Tongues have wagged from the beginning of time — both with and without valid reasons — so don't try to play a defensive game against gossip or you'll drive yourself out of your mind. The only consideration should be this: Does your husband want the secretary to go with him? He does and therefore he should ask her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me if I am right or wrong. Is it good manners for a guest who is visiting in your home to answer the telephone in your absence? I left the house for about an hour yesterday and my sister-in-law who lives in another city was visiting me. The telephone rang and she answered it. It was my daughter calling me long distance. We always call each other station-to-station which means we must pay for the call no matter who answers.

My daughter was very angry when she got her aunt on the phone, and I am steaming myself. I say a guest has no right to answer a phone in someone else's home. I would no more think of answering the telephone in the home of a friend than I would think of opening her mail. Will you please express your opinion? — Ring A Ding

Dear Ring: The natural reaction to a ringing phone is to answer it. If you have strong feelings that no one but you should answer the phone in your home why didn't you instruct your guest to let it ring?

Your sister-in-law was not prying. A ringing phone is not like a letter addressed to someone else. She meant to do you a favor. And you are clearly out of order, Madama.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've read your column for many years and am surprised this problem has never shown up in print. I can only assume that our neighborhood has the only nut of this kind.

A certain young mother who lives a few doors away has three children under six years of age. She has allowed her children to run loose in the neighborhood with pink eye, measles, mumps and skin rashes of undetermined origin. Just last week my son caught whooping cough from the neighbor child.

Don't tell me to speak to her. I have. She says I'm a Fuss-Pot and that she believes in letting her children "wear out their little illnesses." In the meantime I hate to order my kids to stay away from her kids. Please tell me what to do. Furious Mother

Dear Furious: Check with your doctor and make certain your own children are inoculated against all infectious diseases.

It is against the law to allow children with communicable illnesses to run loose. The next time the neighbor woman breaks the law tell her to keep her child isolated or you will ask your doctor to report her. If she doesn't keep her child inside after that — go ahead and do it.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Doerfler, 1319 N. Superior St., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a 10 a.m. mass of thanksgiving Monday at St. Edward Catholic Church, Mackville. Present for the couple's anniversary were Mr. Doerfler's brothers: Ray, Stratford, Texas; Al, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; and J. A. Doerfler, Lancaster, Ohio.

The Catholic Club was the setting for a reception and dinner. Mr. Doerfler was a building contractor before his retirement in 1960. Their children are Mrs. Glen Given, Hortonville; Mrs. E. A. Verhoeven, Wausau; and Mrs. R. J. Schumacher and Harold Doerfler, Appleton. They also have four grandchildren.

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

No Teasing, Please!

A brush, not a comb is the key to new hairstyles. Exaggerated buns, tresses that there's been a height and width, obtained only record boom in reconditioning with a teasing comb, is a thing of the past. And praise be, for in keeping with fashions, day-time coils now emphasize simplicity. The hair is cut and draped for the smoothest possible finish. The crown may be slightly domed or may closely cap the head. The sides may swirl on the cheeks in a rhythmic wave or in soft flip-out curls. Individual flattery dictates variations.

Recipe for Finding Key to Popularity

BY VIVIAN BROWN

When the time comes to go away to school, a girl's heart is likely to flip with fear.

There's a lot of security in that old crown she takes for granted, in family and pets. Will I find friends? Will the girls like me?

These are questions that are up-permost in her mind as school days near.

If you're one of those leaving home for the first time, take it from girls who've been through it.

The early, terrible days of uncertainty before you are accepted by anybody: The key to popularity is being yourself.

That way you will attract girls like you like your type because it's their type too. And you will attract girls who admire you because you are so different from them. Sooner or later every girl finds a companion, even if you just gravitate toward each other because you are lonesome.

Polish Edges

Perhaps you have certain rough edges that friends and family have been accustomed to. There is no time like the present to polish off these little spots, before your new friends consider you hard to take.

Here's a check list of major irritants in friendships:

Immature habits These include twirling hair, biting fingernails, sucking teeth, tapping fingers, sniffing, clearing your throat, and resorting to baby talk to prove a point.

Compulsive borrowing Most girls do not mind lending something in an emergency. But there are girls who thrive on borrowing. They don't even put into their own wardrobe an article that they can borrow easily.

Sponging Friends might treat you twice, waiting for you to reciprocate, but after that they'll avoid you. If you can't afford to treat, don't accept the second invitation.

Keep It Facts

Yarn spinning Good story-tellers often have the habit of embellishing their tall tales. But they don't confuse fact and fiction. If you recount stories about friends putting them in a more unfavorable light than they deserve, people will mistrust your stories in the future.

Selfishness The girl who is always holding out to do what she prefers—movies, watching television or even just taking her route when the crowd goes for a walk—can't maintain her popularity for long. More considerate types will wait for the consensus of opinion and hope it favors their choice. Rasping voice True, young girls love to be noticed, in the soda parlor or at a dance. But attracting attention with a raucous voice is not the way to do it. Loud-mouthed girls send boys scurrying in the other direction.

Unusual Scheme

When choosing colors in home furnishings, think of unusual areas that may often be neglected as part of a color scheme. In the bedroom, you might try adding bright colors to drawer fronts or doors. If you have decorative woodwork, highlight it with color that harmonizes attractively with the walls.

Season to Take Plants Indoors

In the early days of autumn, house plants that have enjoyed a summer vacation outdoors should be taken indoors so they may adapt to the environment there before artificial heat is turned on in homes, says the Society of American Florists.

Plants that haven't thrived outdoors during the lush days of summer aren't likely to improve indoors. Therefore, these "weak" plants should be replaced.

House plants that have been fitted from the warm, moist weather outdoors need a period to become adjusted to the indoor climate again before homes are artificially heated. Otherwise the abrupt change to hot, dry air of heated homes will be harmful to them.

The Society offers these suggestions for house plants to be brought indoors:

Spray and Wash

Plants should be sprayed with an insecticide to rid them of any insects, and the outside of pots should be scrubbed with a brush and water.

The top soil of plants, still actively growing, should be removed and replaced with a mixture of two parts garden soil, one part thoroughly rotted manure, and bonemeal at the rate of a teaspoonful to each six-inch pot.

Plants should be placed near windows at either the sunny or shady locations they prefer, and they should be given routine care during winter months.

In replacing discarded potted house plants, follow these guidelines which will help you to develop a "green thumb":

Choose — with the help of a local florist — harder varieties of flowering and foliage plants that require only moderate adjustments in indoors climate to thrive.

Learn the particular needs of the specific varieties selected, as to light, humidity, soil, soil moisture, temperature, and plant food.

Learn the proper way of keeping the leaves of these varieties clean of dust and the plant free of insects and other pests.

Look for Signs

Learn to recognize the signs that house plants give when they begin to get "sick," and take prompt remedial action.

Popular flowering plants that can be grown indoors include African violets, begonias, gardenias, flowering bulbs, geraniums, gladioli, tuberous rooted begonias, and roses.

There are many hardy foliage plants. Philodendron, for example, is extremely hardy and adaptable. The most popular small foliage plants include baby leaf ivy, golden pothos, marble queen pothos, variegated nephrolepis, assorted ivies (including grape, ripple, English, geranium, and gold dust), assorted cacti, variegated peperomias, sansevierias (including sansevieria aeylanica, gold striped sansevieria and sansevieria bird's nest or dwarf sansevieria), and white vein fittonias.

Among the most popular large display-type foliage plants are philodendron pertusum, ficus decora (red rubber plant), assorted dieffenbachias, philodendron cordatum totem poles, philodendron hastatum, assorted large leaf philodendron such as dubia, panduriforme, and selloum.

Women's Post Plans Drive for Members

A special committee has been appointed to direct the 1964 membership drive of the Fox Valley All Women's Post 163 of the American Legion. Mrs. James O. Schroeder, post commander, announced that the committee will be headed by Mrs. Roy Kuehn, Menasha, first vice commander.

The enrollment drive is expected to receive special emphasis, as 1964 is the 45th anniversary year of the American Legion, founded in 1919 by World War I Veterans. The year also marks the 16th anniversary of the All Women's Post.

The post will join nearly 17,000 community organizations of the Legion in the largest membership drive ever undertaken by a veterans' organization. Eligible to join the women's group are women who served in war-time in any of the armed forces branches. World War I eligibility dates are from April 6, 1917, to Nov. 11, 1918; World War II, from Dec. 7, 1941, to Sept. 2, 1946, and Korean Conflict, from June 26, 1950, to July 27, 1953.

Today's Etiquette

CHILDREN OBJECT

Dear Louise: A man whom I am going to marry, although we are not yet formally engaged, is coming to the city for a week to visit me and to meet my family. I am divorced and have a 24-year-old daughter and a 22-year-old son, both living with me. Would it be proper to invite this man to stay in my home during his visit? My children don't seem to approve but the rest of my family think it would be all right.

Louise Davis Answers:

"When in doubt, don't" is a good rule to follow and I think it applies in your case. Your children, although young adults, could hardly be considered chaperones in your eyes or to the outside world. You didn't state the reason for this disapproval. It may be jealousy or propriety or both. Having their future stepfather around the house for a week might be a trying experience for them and you don't want to run the chances of any resentment with such sudden coyness, especially if your daughter and son take a dim view of him or have never met him. I feel that your fiancé might have a better opportunity of endearing himself to them by staying at a motel. He would still be around the house long enough to try to sell himself. Furthermore there would be less chance of any eye-brow raising among friends, neighbors and acquaintances.

University Prepared For Biggest Challenge

The University of Wisconsin is faced with the biggest challenge of its 114-year history beginning this week.

It is all set to meet that challenge by extending its biggest effort to provide higher education for more Wisconsin young people than ever before in its history.

Finished with its various summer sessions running from commencement in June to September, the UW in Madison, Milwaukee, and in eight centers across the state continues this fall to teach a record new high enrollment of undergraduate and graduate students.

The eight centers are Green Bay, Kenosha, Manitowish, Marinette, Racine, Sheboygan, Marathon County at Wausau, and Fox Valley at Menasha.

Total enrollment of credit students on all campuses this fall is expected to reach about 36,450, an increase of some 2,400 over last year's record high of 34,011.

Total enrollment on the Madison campus is expected to be about 23,550 this fall, with an additional 9,675 students enrolling at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and about 3,225 at the eight UW centers.

Classes begin on all 10 UW campuses at 7:45 a.m. Monday, Sept. 16.

New student programs have been arranged on all UW campuses welcoming about 12,000 new students, both new freshmen and new advanced standing students including graduate students.

The new student programs open on all 10 UW campuses Wednesday and Thursday.

All of the programs are designed to give new students additional opportunities to discuss their college programs with faculty advisers and other members of the UW staff and student body, to complete registration, to become acquainted with other new students, and to learn about their university and its various educational and recreational facilities on all its campuses.

Typical of the new student programs are those on the Madison and Milwaukee campuses.

On the UW's Milwaukee campus Thursday a general convocation of all new students will be held in Pearce Field Stadium at 9:30 a.m., followed by a men's convocation there at 10:30 a.m. and a Women's convocation in the main auditorium at 10:30 a.m.

The UW-M Union open house will be held at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the main auditorium; Provost

Typical of the new student programs are those on the Madison and Milwaukee campuses.

On the UW's Milwaukee campus Thursday a general convocation of all new students will be held in Pearce Field Stadium at 9:30 a.m., followed by a men's convocation there at 10:30 a.m. and a Women's convocation in the main auditorium at 10:30 a.m.

3 Fox Cities Men to Go to K of C Meeting At Wisconsin Rapids

Lee Everts, Appleton, state treasurer of the Knights of Columbus, will participate in a regional conference of K of C leaders to be held Saturday in Assumption High School at Wisconsin Rapids.

Everts is to give his report before some 400 leaders of the Knights of Columbus who will be representing more than 41 districts in the Wisconsin jurisdiction.

Others from the Fox Cities area to make reports at the meeting charged that President Kennedy's request for congressional authority to call up 150,000 U.S. military reservists indicated the President was preparing to commit aggression against Cuba.

An officers' workshop will be primarily for Grand Knights, financial secretaries and general program chairmen.

Deputy Koch will also install the 41 district deputies now serving throughout the state.

Panel discussions will be moderated by state officers and reports will be given by chairman of the various committees.

State Deputy John A. Koch, Prairie du Sac, said the one-day workshop is for K of C state, district and subordinate council officers. He said the program will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and is expected to be completed by 4:30 p.m. A lunch will be served in the school cafeteria, he added.

Problems Facing JFK Nearly Decade Old

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The problems which have suddenly piled up on President Kennedy have been accumulating, seeking solutions, for the greater part of a decade.

They just happened to land in his lap all in a bunch although they seemed invisible to him earlier in the year. There are three: the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, the civil rights bill and Viet Nam.

Just a little over 10 years ago the Russians exploded their first hydrogen bomb.

Since then this country and Russia have set off many atomic explosions, talked of ways to end them, did stop them voluntarily for three years, resumed, and finally this summer decided to agree to stop them except underground.

At this moment, despite all the talking the United States has done to the world about wanting a suspension of tests, Kennedy cannot be absolutely positive the Senate will approve, although it probably will.

Nine Years

It was only nine years ago that the Supreme Court set in motion a whole series of unpredictable events by declaring public school segregation unconstitutional.

It has taken nine years to break down opposition to compliance with the court in every state, even to only a token degree. Mississippi, for instance, has had one university desegregated but no grammar school.

But it was that school decision, which said in effect segregation by its very nature is unconstitutional, that gave Negroes heart and support in demanding an end to all forms of segregation.

Kaukauna School Enrollment Totals 4,005

KAUKAUNA — School population for the city this year is 4,005, an increase of seven over the 1962-63 figures. This does not include 46 student teachers enrolled at Outagamie County Teacher College this year, but does include the 28 students enrolled in the elementary day school at the college.

The enrollment figures show 90 enrolled at Harrison School (part of the school district) 483 at Nicolet, 446 at Park, 143 in the junior high and 1,154 in high school. St. Mary's has 223, Holy Cross has 687 and Trinity Lutheran has 164.

Enrollment figures last year show 90 at Harrison, 941 at St. Mary, 737 at Holy Cross, 534 at Nicolet, 508 at Park, 147 at Trinity and 1,066 at the high school.

Kaukauna Youth Earns Scholarship

KAUKAUNA—Jerrold Heindel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Heindel, 614 Kaukauna St., has received a $500 undergraduate scholarship from the University of Wisconsin School of Agriculture.

Heindel, a senior at the University, was informed the scholarship was awarded on the basis of his grades in bio-chemistry. He is a 1960 graduate of Kaukauna High School and was recipient of the Melchert Memorial Scholarship on graduation from high school.

The result has been demonstrations, riots, and some progress. Tuesday's feeble effort at defying school segregation in Alabama by Gov. George C. Wallace, until Kennedy federalized his National Guard, was just an annoyance.

The real drama shifts now to Congress and a fight over the civil rights bill which Kennedy offered only late in this session, and then only after he had been pushed into doing so by Negroes' militant demonstrations for civil rights.

French Loss War

It is also nine years since the French, learning nothing after keeping the Vietnamese people in subjection for generations, finally collapsed in their war against the Indochinese Communists, and left half the country to them.

To save the rest of Indochina, now called South Viet Nam, and the rest of Southeast Asia from communism, the United States has had to help with men and supplies and money, supporting the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

He has run it as a dictatorship. The United States didn't get tough but just played the role of willing helper in the fight against the Reds. It will against Diem has been piling up in Viet Nam.

His recent repressions, against Buddhists and students, rocked his hold, showed diminishing public confidence in the Diem regime. But the United States still backs him, still is afraid to get tough.

Kennedy said this week the United States must pursue a policy of patience in Viet Nam and avoid getting tough because that might collapse the government and open all Viet Nam and Southeast Asia to communism.

Congress Urges FK to Restrain Federal Spending

Tax Cut Bill Tied to Reducing Of Both Federal Deficit, Debt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress will be on record as urging the President to pledge "all reasonable means to restrain government spending" if it passes the $11-billion tax cut bill in its present form.

The administration also would be on record that Congress expects any increased revenue to be used first to eliminate budget deficits and to reduce the public debt.

The majority of the House Ways and Means Committee wrote this language into the bill Tuesday after the close defeat of a Republican move to tie part of the tax cut directly to a limitation on spending.

Republicans, however, will renew the effort to force spending curbs at every legislative opportunity, and they count on the support of some fiscally conservative Democrats.

In addition to the drive to tie in spending limitations — which President Kennedy said would dilute the business stimulating potential of the tax cut — the legislation faces delay.

The administration is redoubling efforts to have Congress finish action on the tax cut this year, so that withholding rates can be reduced Jan. 1, leaving more spending money in pay envelopes.

Year Later

As the bill is written, two-thirds of the individual tax cuts, eventually amounting to about $100 to $200 a year for most wage-earning and salaried families, would be effective Jan. 1. The remaining cut would come a year later.

The formal approval by the key Ways and Means Committee is only the first major step in the bill's legislative progress.

The House apparently will move fairly promptly. Although there had been rumors of a slowdown effort in the Rules Committee, a round of conferences ended in an understanding that the bill can be brought to the House floor during the week of Sept. 23, with a vote likely Sept. 26.

The Ways and Means Committee's report on the complex bill, expected to be as long as a good-size novel, will not be printed for distribution before next week, but the Rules Committee is expected to move without undue delay after it is available.

In the Senate the outlook is dimmer. A full-scale civil rights filibuster is expected to limit the time available for hearings on the bill, and Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Finance Committee is openly critical of it.

This is the language the Ways and Means Committee, on motion of Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., agreed to make Section 1 of the tax cut bill:

"It is the sense of Congress that the tax reduction provided by this act through stimulation of the economy will, after a brief transitional period, raise, rather than lower, revenues and that such revenue increases should first be used to eliminate the deficits in the administrative budgets and then to reduce the public debt."

"To further the objective of obtaining balanced budgets in the near future, Congress by this action recognizes the importance of taking all reasonable means to restrain government spending and urges the President to declare his accord with this objective."

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the committee, observed that "the majority of the committee showed a guilty conscience by adopting this wishful thinking section."

Byrnes proposed a provision under which the second portion of the tax cut, due Jan. 1, 1965, would be canceled unless two conditions were met: the deficit for the present fiscal year, ending June 30, 1964, would not exceed $2 billion, and the President's spending recommendations for the next year would not exceed $98 billion, approximately this year's level.

The motion reportedly lost on a preliminary unrecorded ballot by only one vote, but later was officially shelved by a 15-10 party-line count.

Married Men Cheered by Draft Status

But Few Decide to Join Army Despite Executive Order

HUNDREDS of young married men facing two years of Army life found themselves Tuesday in a situation similar to that of the prize fighter saved by the bell. In this case, it was a wedding bell.

The bell ringer was President Kennedy. He issued an executive order temporarily halting the draft of married men.

Many men were only minutes away from induction when the order came through.

Some greeted the news with sighs of relief. Others saw problems.

And some, like three of eight married inductees at Atlanta, decided to go into the Army anyway.

One of the three, Thomas Byers, 23, of Rome, Ga., explained "My friends threw me a big going-away party—I'd be ashamed to go back now. Besides, I sold my new car."

Among the Atlanta inductees who chose civilian life, Earl G. Wheeler, 23, of Trenton, Ga., said: "It took me about as long to decide to go home as it did for them to ask the question."

Kennedy ordered that married men be inducted only after all acceptable single men in the 18-25 age group had been drafted.

When Fred M. Fletcher got the news at a Seattle induction center, the 23-year-old bridegroom of five months "just started running."

Ran Out Door

"I actually ran out the door," Fletcher said, and kept running for about four blocks "before I happened to think it was a long way home to Bothell"—a Washington State community about 10 miles from Seattle.

But another inductee, Daniel Robinson of Grapeview, Wash., wasn't as lucky. He's single. "I'm madder than heck about this," he said. "I'm practically engaged to a girl. If I'd known about this (presidential order) why we'd have sped things up a little."

Jerry E. Doughman, 22, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, also had problems. He had given up his home, stored his furniture and quit his railroad job.

Charles Ray Morgan, 23, of Moss Point, Miss., was pulled from an induction line at Jackson, Miss., just 45 minutes after the presidential order went into effect.

A sergeant stepped up to him just as Morgan was about to be sworn in and said, "You don't go. You're married."

If he had raised his hand and taken the oath, he would have been Pvt. Morgan.

"Whew!" signed Morgan. "That's saved by the bell. Isn't it?"

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia is expected to arrive in Cochabamba Sept. 27 for a five-day visit to this mountain nation. A Foreign Office spokesman said Tuesday.

The spokesman said Tito wasn't expected to visit La Paz, the capital city, because of the altitude.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who is up for re-election next year, admitted today he was jolted when he received a membership application blank from an organization for retired persons.

"If they send me another one," he vowed, "I'll have them investigated."

WASHINGTON (AP)—James C. Donnelly, 41, and Robert K. Gaurke, 35, commission chairman Francis X. Swietlik Sr., said "It jars the whole community. If we cannot rely on our police department to uphold the law, our whole system will be undermined."

Mrs. Jeanne Mae Jackson testified Tuesday she paid "more than $200" to each of the former detectives from 1958 through 1962. Her testimony was given at the appeals hearing of the pair, who were demoted to patrolmen and suspended by Chief Howard O. Johnson Aug. 19 after a police trial board convicted them of conduct unbecoming an officer and detrimental to the service. The trial board acted after the two men admitted receiving a minimum of $30 from Mrs. Jackson.

Fight Looms Between State, Ohio on Truck Licensing

Buckeye Law Requires Wisconsin Vehicles to Buy Their Plates

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin officials have indicated they may resort to a federal court suit against Ohio if negotiations fail to maintain truck licensing reciprocity between the two states.

Gov. John W. Reynolds said Tuesday he would begin personal negotiations with Ohio Gov. James Rhodes in an effort to retain reciprocity in the face of a new Ohio law that would require Wisconsin trucks using Ohio highways to buy Ohio license plates.

At a meeting of state legal officers, Motor Vehicle Department officials and representatives of the trucking industry, Reynolds said he would telephone Rhodes and "if necessary, I'll go down there and see him."

James Karns, Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department commissioner, said "There is still room for negotiations, but I feel they have no desire to negotiate."

Reynolds said the only alternatives to negotiations would be a federal court suit against Ohio or an industry demand that the federal government take over truck licensing.

Wisconsin Fee

Since 1953 when Ohio started its ton-mile tax on trucks, Wisconsin has levied a fee on Ohio trucks of from $60 to $300 a year.

John Varda, general manager of the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association, said two of Wisconsin's large trucks pay more to Ohio than Wisconsin collects from all Ohio trucks.

Reynolds asked that he be provided figures to show the economic impact on Wisconsin carriers under the new Ohio law.

No Progress

Karns said it is a question of balancing the $150,000 "we collect from Ohio trucks against the prospect of forcing some of our trucks out of business."

A meeting with Ohio officials in April made no progress toward settling the question, according to Atty. Gen. George Thompson.

Reynolds said it might be possible for either Wisconsin or the trucking industry to bring suit against Ohio claiming interference with interstate commerce.

"There is still some time to negotiate," Reynolds said, "although there is a strong suspicion they will not extend reciprocity."

A new Ohio law makes Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe head of a board which decides on reciprocity agreements. Saxbe has notified Wisconsin that reciprocity will be cancelled after Sept. 17, and Wisconsin interstate carriers contend many of them would be driven out of business.

If reciprocity is cancelled, Wisconsin trucks would be required to buy Ohio licenses which cost up to $500 in addition to paying the ton-mile tax.

Leroy Dalton, an assistant attorney general, said it has become "a matter of whether Wisconsin is going to put its tail between its legs" or take some measures to stop the cancellation.

"It's adding insult to injury," said Peter Pappas of the Kenosha Auto Transport Co.

Pappas said the board headed by Saxbe could extend reciprocity for six months to March 18, 1964, but that Saxbe is on record as favoring an end to reciprocity.

Rusk Gives Speech to Legionnaires

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he hopes it will be possible to reach agreements with the Soviet Union "on safeguards against war by accident, miscalculation or surprise attack."

In a speech before the national American Legion convention Tuesday night, Rusk also set down more than a half dozen other areas in which he said agreements with Russia might be made.

"In seeking understandings with the Soviet Union," Rusk said, "we do not expect to effect a miraculous change in Soviet intentions toward us. Our intention is to keep the conflict within tolerable bounds—to defend and build freedom without a thermonuclear holocaust."

Besides safeguards against an unintended nuclear war, Rusk said, "we favor also, though this will be more difficult to achieve, a slowing down of actual arms production and reductions in existing levels of armaments—with adequate inspection."

Other areas marked for possible future discussions with the Soviet Union were easing of the crisis in Berlin, strengthening of the peace-making power of the United Nations, a greater flow of information and people between the West and the Communist world, joint undertakings against disease and the hazards of nature and pooled efforts in scientific fields.

House Okays Proposal on Mental Health

Total Far Below Sum Provided by Senate During May of '63

BY WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A broad new federal effort to ease mental health problems—aimed at ending what one congressman called the warehouse treatment of the mentally ill—headed today toward a House-Senate compromise.

The House stamped its approval Tuesday on a mental health bill with a $238-million price tag—far below that approved by the Senate May 27.

President Kennedy originally proposed the legislation, and the $850-million Senate version was in line with administration recommendations.

The bill calls for federal aid to spur construction of facilities for research on problems of mental retardation, and for community mental health centers to care for the mentally ill in their home towns.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., told the House the community care plan would end "the warehousing of human beings" in vast and often overcrowded state mental institutions.

Sharply Reduced

With immediate treatment in community centers, Rogers said, the cost of caring for the mentally ill would be sharply reduced and their chances of recovery vastly improved.

The biggest single cut from the Senate version lopped off $427 million earmarked to provide staffs for community mental health centers.

Indications were that a renewed effort to get the staff funds included in the bill would come when a House-Senate conference committee considers the measure.

Restaurant Must Pay For Broken Tooth, Circuit Judge Rules

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Thomas Scanlon, torpedored by a submarine in June 1962, has been awarded $200 damages.

Scanlon, of New Britain, Conn., broke a tooth on a sandwich known variously along the Eastern seaboard as a submarine, grinder and Nero.

Circuit Judge Bernard Kosicki ruled for Scanlon Tuesday in a suit against Food Crafts, Inc. of West Hartford.

Kosicki described the type of sandwich in question as a gustatory extravaganza of regal dimensions and savor. It consists of an elongated roll either hard-crusted or soft, slit longitudinally and filled with an imaginative assortment of meats, condiments and vegetables.

However, the sandwich roll Scanlon tried to bite into was so hard it "was not reasonably fit for human consumption," the judge ruled.

Hypnotist Can't Cure Woman With Hiccups

ATLANTA (AP)—A hypnotist says he has given up on curing Lucy McDonald, who has been hiccuping for 65 days.

He told Mrs. McDonald, 38, that her will was too strong and he could not hypnotize her "at the present."

"But I can't wait," said the red-haired soda fountain waitress, who has to work 10 hours a day to support three school-age children.

Desperate for relief, Mrs. McDonald already had tried surgery, shock therapy, more than 200 home remedies, chiropractic treatment and prayer.

Two Detectives Dismissed From Milwaukee Force

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two former detectives, appealing a demerit and a 30-day suspension each, were dismissed from the police force by the Fire and Police Commission today for admittedly accepting cash from a prostitute.

In discharging James C. Donnelly, 41, and Robert K. Gaurke, 35, commission chairman Francis X. Swietlik Sr., said "It jars the whole community. If we cannot rely on our police department to uphold the law, our whole system will be undermined."

Mrs. Jeanne Mae Jackson testified Tuesday she paid "more than $200" to each of the former detectives from 1958 through 1962. Stubbornness Part of All Human's Make Up

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—(and how many do you agree with?)—There is a great deal of prattle about the difference between the sexes.

Less is said about how much alike they are. One of the chief characteristics of any human being, whether he be a man or a woman, is his stubborn determination to have his own way—no matter what he must do to achieve it, or how much he hurts himself and others in doing so.

It is this human characteristic common to us all as individuals, that causes willful mankind more than all the differences of sex, religion and money put together.

The invention of the cash register did more to promote honesty than all the laws against larceny.

Two Types

Half the parents spoil their children because they are lazy, the other half spoil their children because they enjoy it.

There are only two types of people in the world. Those who are sensible — and those who eat doughnuts for breakfast.

Wealth is usually forgiven its foibles. If a poor man leaves a small tip the waiter dismisses him as a stingy bum. But if a millionaire tips him lightly, the same waiter merely thinks the man is careful of his money, and tells himself approvingly, "That's the way to get ahead."

Everybody feels he could run a good restaurant, and anyone who does usually makes a fine income. But more people fail in the restaurant business than in any other form of enterprise. A girl never really settles for spinsterhood until she buys her first pair of bifocals. One of the things a bachelor can't understand about babies is why, when you pick them up, they bend in so many unexpected places. The Italians have a wonderful saying to describe a chronic complainer. "He'd find something to cry about with a loaf of bread under each arm."

that the office boy who carries a portable radio in his hand—as he can listen to the baseball game as he goes about his chores—is unlikely to wind up as president of the firm.

The thing most of us find hardest to understand about modern art is how anybody else can claim to understand it.

Sherwood Scouts to Conduct Paper Drive

November Activities Discussed by Legion

SHERWOOD — Activities for November were discussed at a recent meeting of the Thomas E. Kees Legion Post.

Members discussed a memorial program at 11 a. m. Veterans' Day. Plans will be made at future meetings.

The annual Veterans' Day dinner for members, their wives and the auxiliary and husbands will be Nov. 11 at The Cliffs.

The fall festival will be Nov. 9 and 10 at the Clubhouse.

Building Permits List $45,000

Project Costs

CHILTON — Four building permits for construction work in the townships of Harrison and Charlestown estimated at $45,000 have been issued by Roland E. Miller, Calumet County clerk and chief zoning administrator. Three of the permits, all for dwellings, were issued to Harrison Township residents. Recipients and the estimated construction costs are Floyd Fezer, $8,000; William Freye, $6,000; and Russell Young, $14,000.

Robert Koehler was issued a permit for the construction of two farm buildings in Charlestown Township. One is a $14,000 silo and the other is a $3,000 pole building.

Town of Ellington Valuation Up $40,335

STEPHENSVILLE — Total assessed valuation of the Town of Ellington up $40,335 to $3,456,810 for 1963. Last year it was $3,415,575. The increase resulted from improvements and new buildings. About four miles of road have been blacktopped and repairs on the black topped roads have been made in several parts of the town.

Kaukauna Man Missing on Laos Flight

Plane Shot Down By Communists Late Last Week

A rural Kaukauna man is among three Air America fliers missing in Laos after their plane, also carrying four Asians, was shot down over Laos last Thursday.

Missing is Eugene H. DeBruin, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. DeBruin, route 3. DeBruin joined Air America, a private air firm chartered by the Vietnamese government, in March. He went to Laos in July.

The Laotian premier's office announced today that the C-46 plane in which they were flying crashed near Tchepone after being hit by pro-communist Pathet Lao ground fire while on a supply-dropping mission to refugees.

Except for one unidentified body, no information was available on the rest of the crew. DeBruin is a 1951 graduate of Kaukauna High School and a 1960 graduate of Montana State University. He served in the Air Force from 1952 to 1956.

DeBruin Single
DeBruin, single, received a bachelor's degree in forestry, and was employed by the U.S. Conservation Department until he joined Air America.

The other two Americans are Charles G. Herrick, San Antonio, Tex., and Joseph C. Cheney II, Wayne, Mich. Both are married.

A Pathet Lao Khang Khay radio broadcast said the plane was downed by Pathet Lao fire. The radio said some of the plane's occupants parachuted to the ground and were taken prisoners. Two Air America's planes previously have been shot down on supply missions, one earlier this year and one in 1962.

Tchepone is the Pathet Lao stronghold in southern Laos near the south Vietnamese border.

The communists said rescue operations were temporarily suspended after a helicopter which landed a rescue party near the plane wreckage came under fire. A C-47 plane flying in the area to assist the investigation was hit by ground fire. Both the helicopter and the C-47 returned safely.

Hearing on Charge of Leaving Scene of Accident Scheduled

OSHKOSH — Preliminary hearing was set by County Judge James Sitter this morning on a charge against Paul E. Butterfield, 42, 531 S. Commercial St., Neenah, of leaving the scene of an accident in which personal injuries were involved. The hearing will be Oct. 8.

Butterfield's car and a car driven by Kathleen Laux, 19, 1740 N. Appleton St., Appleton, were involved in an accident Saturday night on State 114 in the Town of Neenah. Miss Laux was injured in the accident, according to county police.

Butterfield's attorney asked for a preliminary hearing, contending the issue was on whether personal injuries were involved. Butterfield was released without bond.

First Steps Toward razing of the older Aid Association for Lutherans building at College Avenue and Superior Street were taken Tuesday when workmen began removing the sign on top of the five story structure. The building will be razed to allow construction of a twin to the newer AAL Office building. Two workmen are barely visible at the top of the sign. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Ask City to Build Access To New High School Site

Appleton Board Wants to Avoid Problem Experienced at Johnston

In an attempt to avoid having history repeat itself, the Appleton Board of Education has asked the city to build access streets to the site of the proposed southeast senior high school during 1964. It is hoped the streets will be ready in time for the scheduled opening of the school in fall of 1966.

The school board and Department of Public Works still are hearing the echoes of a close race with time and weather to complete streets and sidewalks to the new Johnston School in time for its opening last week.

Parents have complained about lack of access to the school, about incomplete sidewalks and about muddy roads.

"Not Possible"
Forest Street was completed to the Johnston site and a public sidewalk was laid along the west side of the site in time for school opening. Work on Theodore Street and Lourdes Drive is near completion. Sidewalks and blacktopping on the site itself have been completed for some time, according to Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz.

School officials have pointed out that the board wrote the city:

council a year ago on the problem of access to Johnston School. Former Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski told the city council in March, 1962, that it was not possible to service the southeast school site by September of 1963.

Temporary Road
During construction of the Johnston School, the contractor had to build a temporary access road into the site and for a time had to haul water to the site, adding to the building costs. Sewers and water mains had to be laid before the streets could be graded and gravelled, and rainy weather caused delays as the deadline approached.

"We could write a book on opening a building at the edge of town," Kurtz said. "There are certain problems that you don't have in the center of town where streets and sidewalks are in."

Appleton Officials Refute Chamber in Parking Debate

City Says Parallel System Should Replace Angle on Avenue

The claim of Appleton Chamber of Commerce representatives that elimination of angle parking on College Avenue would be a lethal blow to downtown merchants was denied Wednesday night by city officials.

The chamber's parking and traffic committee met with the common council's public safety committee at city hall and discussed the city's traffic and parking program and policies.

While the businessmen and city officials failed to see eye-to-eye on the College Avenue angle parking issue, some accord was reached on other matters.

Kenneth H. Corbett, chamber secretary, and J. R. Whitman, chairman of the parking and traffic committee, made it clear that retention of angle parking after College Avenue is rebuilt was the No. 1 demand of the downtown merchants.

Plan Offered
City officials, backed up by safety experts and the National Safety Council, have indicated parallel parking should replace the present angle system. They are advocating a front-to-back parallel parking system for the downtown district.

The chamber group said front-to-back parking should be tried on one of Appleton's streets to see how it is accepted by the public. Police Chief Earl Wolff and Traffic Lt. John Gosch agreed and offered a plan for conducting the experiment on a two-block area of College Avenue.

However, it was apparent the chamber committee had some side streets in mind for the test, whether the parking pilot project will be conducted is to be decided by the public safety committee and common council.

Successful System
Front-to-back parallel parking will provide the motorist with more room in which to maneuver while parking in or leaving a space. The system has been successful in many cities.

11 Accidents
Chief Wolff's proposal was to use the north side of College Avenue from Walnut to Richmond streets (two blocks) for parallel parking on a trial basis. He said there have been 11 reportable mid-block accidents in that area since Jan. 1.

Wolff said using College Avenue as the testing ground for front-to-back parking, which he predicts would be welcomed by motorists, would serve a three-fold purpose.

"It would enable the people to use the avenue for parallel parking and they could express their opinions on the new system," Wolff said.

Relieve Congestion
He said the pilot project also would help relieve congestion caused by vehicles coming off the Washington-Walnut street intersection and turning west onto College Avenue. Wolff said there would be considerably more turning room."

Emphasizing his third point, Wolff said the experiment would enable the police department to make a comparison of mid-block accident totals.

Girl Treated For Sleeping Pill Overdose

A high school girl who said she was tired of homework, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital Tuesday night where she was treated for a possible overdose of sleeping tablets.

Appleton police received a call from the girl's brother who said his sister, 16, had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets.

The girl was sitting on a couch when police arrived. She said she had purchased a bottle of 40 pills earlier in the evening and had taken them all. She claimed she was tired of doing homework for the past three years. She also told police she was on the honor roll at her school.

Police called the family doctor who requested the girl be brought to the hospital for treatment and observation. Police said the girl did not appear ill, but was drowsy when they talked to her.

An empty bottle of sleeping pills and the cardboard box which contained the bottle were found nearby and taken by police. The girl's parents are out of the city on a vacation.

the Town of Greenville, west of Appleton. Ponath said it is possible that even after the Outagamie County airport is constructed, it still will be possible for the airport to be designated the regional airport.

Limited Potential
Ponath re-emphasized that studies by engineers have shown that the Winnebago County airport is limited in potential and that the port is inadequate for jet-age service.

Zillmer New Advisor at UW Center

Speech Teacher to Share Counseling Duties With Others

H. Lawrence Zillmer, speech teacher at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center for the last two years, has been appointed new student advisor at the Center.

His appointment was confirmed Friday by the Board of Regents and announced Tuesday by Verne Imhoff, Center director. Zillmer will share the responsibilities of student counseling with Miss Lila Locksmith, who has been advisor to students at the Center.

Zillmer will be advisor to freshmen this year and Miss Locksmith will be advisor to sophomores. Next year Zillmer will advise the same class, who then will be sophomores, and Miss Locksmith will advise the freshmen. They will continue to change classes each year in order to keep continuity in the counseling.

Zillmer will teach one section of speech this year and will continue to head the fine arts program and advise the dramatics club. The forensics group, advised last year by Zillmer, this year will be under James Danielson, new speech instructor.

Zillmer, a native of Barronett, Wis., received his bachelor's and master's degrees in speech and drama at Kansas State University. As soon as he completes his thesis, he will receive a Ph.D. degree in speech and drama from the University of Wisconsin.

He was an instructor at American University, Washington, D.C., before starting work on his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin.

Zillmer is married and has three children. The family lives at 809 E. Hancock St., Appleton.

Oshkosh Judge Asked to Hear Woman's Plea

OSHKOSH — Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane is being requested by County Judge James V. Sitter to hear the petition of Victoria Fritz, Oshkosh, for a writ of Coram Nobis in connection with her being convicted of first degree murder of her husband.

Judge cane was the presiding judge at the county court at the time of the murder trial and Judge Sitter then was connected with the district attorney's office.

The petition for the writ contends that the proceedings and instructions were in error because they failed to take into consideration the findings and conclusions arrived at in the case of the State vs. Francis Clayton, Clayton, whom the state claimed did the murder in cooperation with Mrs. Fritz, had been found to have been insane at the time of the murder.

The petition asks for a new trial.

Appleton Works Board Names 3-Man Committee on Ziemann's Suggestion

A three-man committee was appointed Tuesday by the Appleton Board of Public Works to make a recommendation on whether the city should retain the No. 1 fire station property as a possible site for a future city hall.

The city plans to start construction of a new fire department headquarters station near Atlantic and Drew streets this fall, replacing the 79-year-old building at Oneida and Washington streets. The common council has indicated it wants to sell the old building and property and apply the money to the cost of the new station.

Raises Question
However, Ald. Fred Ziemann (6th) cautioned that some day Appleton would need a new city hall building and raised the question as to whether the city should retain the Oneida-Washington corner.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell, Public Works Director Robert W. Blues and City Planner Walter Rasmussen were appointed to prepare a report and recommendation.

Ziemann told the board he felt that when a new city hall is constructed, it should be located as close to the center of the city as possible.

Different Story
Ziemann said he had reservations about the city selling property, and added, "It seems that when the city has to buy property it has to pay plenty but it is a different story when it comes to selling."

He said several downtown developments are underway and said a city hall near Appleton's downtown would add strength to the city's central district.

In other action, the board recommended moving of the parking meter department from the basement of the city hall to the police station.

Set Oct. 16 for meeting with the Appleton Taxpayers Association to discuss a capital improvement program for the City of Appleton.

Also scheduled Oct. 16 for holding a council-of-the-whole meeting with representatives of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce to discuss long-range plans for College Avenue.

Directed the city attorney to send the State of Wisconsin a Warranty deed on 23 acres of land in the industrial park, and recommended a five-year extension of the time in which the state has to build a new armory on the site.

Based on 50 cents for each page of testimony and a $2 delivery fee, Winnebago County's bill came to $1,004.50 for one transcript.

PSC Says Permit Needed for Bridge
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Ernest Hellwig of Omro has been notified by the Public Service Commission that a proposed foot bridge across a slough of the Fox River at Omro, half a mile east of the State 21 bridge, will be illegal without a state permit. Free Messages May be sent to a serviceman anywhere in the world as a feature of the third annual Fox Point Air Fair. Above is a view of the transmitting equipment which the 440th Troop Carrier Wing of Milwaukee will use to send the messages. Miss Wisconsin Electricity uses the back of an air force reservist as a desk in writing a message for transmission in the view above.

Fox Point Air Fair Scheduled

Troop Carrier Unit to Transmit Free Messages

NEENAH — If you have a favorite person in the service, be he your son, brother, sweetheart or the former apple cheeked paper boy, you'll be able to communicate with him through the Military Affiliated Radio System (MARS) at the third Annual Fox Point Air Fair, Sept. 26, 27, 28.

The Air Fair is sponsored by the Fox Point Association in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce of Neenah-Menasha.

If direct telephone connections cannot be made, you'll be able to contact your serviceman via wiregram message. Regardless of the method used, the service will be provided free of cost to all at the Air Fair.

To alleviate the work load for sending and receiving stations, if the wire service is used, five stock messages have been prepared. Each person sending the message may check one of these messages and then add a personal note of not more than 25 words. The writer may skip the stock statement and just send a personal wiregram of not more than 25 words.

The MARS equipment being used for the Fair belongs to the 440th Troop Carrier Wing, Milwaukee. It includes either a shelter or van housing two radio receivers, one radio transmitter, two teletype printers, one teletype perforator-transmitter and additional equipment.

This station can be operated simply by transmitting and receiving on the same frequency.

It may also be used to receive on one frequency, while transmitting on another.

The primary function of the MARS is to provide back-up communications facilities for normal military communications systems. In addition it services the Red Cross and Chaplains Service. Under normal conditions it is used to train radio operators and provide free communications between servicemen and their families and friends.

The MARS setup will be in operation all three days of the fair.

Blast Fence Approved for Oshkosh Port

OSHKOSH — A blast fence to be installed at the north end of the north-south runway is being included in the proposed 1964 budget for the airport. Airport Manager Steve Wittman told the aviation committee Tuesday night.

The committee set Sept. 18 for work on the proposed budget.

He told the committee of an incident recently in which a board holding up the braces for an overhead garage door at a house across the street from the runway and had been blown loose when a jet plane started its take-off, falling onto the car below.

Wittman said that jets will be using the field in the future, he believes. He added that he had heard through the grapevine that one company already is planning to purchase a jet plane.

The aviation committee agreed to a suggestion from Marathon Division of American Can Co. that a sign be posted along the road leading to its hangar and the flight control tower to the effect that this road is not the one for terminal. Many persons have been confused and have turned in on the Marathon-control tower road by mistake, it was mentioned.

Wittman was directed to have a sign made and also to advise the Wisconsin Conservation Department that the aviation committee would permit the Conservation Department to install electricity at a hangar it is using the installation to be at the conservation department's expense.

K-C Donates Wildlife Area In Wisconsin

5,240 Acres in Price County Near Phillips for State

NEENAH — An eight square mile tract of wooded land, lying between the South and North Forks of the Flambeau River in Price County, will be given by Kimberly-Clark Corp. to the Wisconsin Conservation Department when the conservation commission meets Friday in Rhinelander.

The 5,240 acre site is isolated from the Corporation's other forest properties in Wisconsin. Its value as a commercial forest is limited, Kimberly-Clark officials said, but the area has substantial potential for public use.

The land is near the "Musky Trail" and is just north of the South Fork of the Flambeau, about 12 miles west-northwest of Phillips, Price County seat.

J. R. Smith, conservation department game division superintendent, said the land has "excellent potential as a game area."

"Bear, deer and ruffed grouse are plentiful and the game population could be improved under management," he said. "Between 1,000 and 1,500 acres of flowages could be developed to provide improved habitat for wood ducks, black ducks, mallards and teal and for fur-bearing animals such as muskrat, otter, beaver and mink."

Adjoins Hunting Ground

The donated area adjoins a 1,600 acre public hunting grounds to the south and is near a camping area at Lake of the Pines, also under jurisdiction of the Wisconsin Conservation Department.

"Under game management, the land will attract hunters and sportsmen from a wide area and will become an economic asset to Price County and nearby areas," Smith said.

The land has been open to the public for hunting and fishing while owned by Kimberly-Clark.

Governor Cites Police Scandal

police affairs although Reynolds has repeatedly said he wants a thorough going inquiry into organized crime in the state as a whole. The Milwaukee inquiry has been enlivened lately by formal charges against policemen for accepting gifts and money from known law violators.

The governor said he wants to employ the highest quality men possible in the new state division of criminal investigation authorized under new legislation which he sponsored.

Speaking generally about police organization, he said "the standards of conduct of police officers must be high, higher than in other occupations."

"Localities must move positively or the state will have to move in," he added.

Reynolds said the Milwaukee investigation "has a long way to go" and that it has thus far not "touched the problem of organized crime at all."

The governor seemed anxious, however, to convey his view that the revelations thus far have been more serious and meaningful than public opinion and public opinion leaders have thus far realized or acknowledged.

Political Matters

The governor touched only briefly on political matters when he laughed off suggestions that he may avoid a second term candidacy for governor in order to accept an appointment to the federal judiciary from a friendly Democratic national administration.

"The governorship is a more satisfying job to a man of my age," he smiled. Moreover he has never been offered a judgeship, he said.

"I like my job. It is the best job I ever had," said the former Green Bay lawyer as he made it as clear as he could without a formal announcement that he intends to run again for the governorship in 1964.

Committees Debate Parking

116 accidents on College Avenue this year with 50 per cent of them in mid-block.

Under proposed parallel parking, 13 stalls now used for angle parking would be eliminated in the two blocks.

"Stupid Thing"

While the chamber group for the most part wanted to retain angle parking on College Avenue, one merchant took a different view. "I think angle parking on the avenue is one of the most stupid things I have ever seen and it should be abolished," said F. J. Pechman.

The businessmen indicated their main objection to eliminating angle parking was because women motorist shopping downtown wanted it continued. They claimed any type of parking other than angle would drive woman customers out of the downtown district.

"The women in this town are death against changing angle parking on the avenue," said W. T. Bernhard. "We can't afford to kick them in the face because they are our customers."

Disagrees

Chief Wolff took exception to Bernhard's statement and said he spoke before groups of women who said they wanted the city to get rid of angle parking. "Women have told me they are deathly afraid to drive past those cars backing in and out on the Avenue," Wolff said.

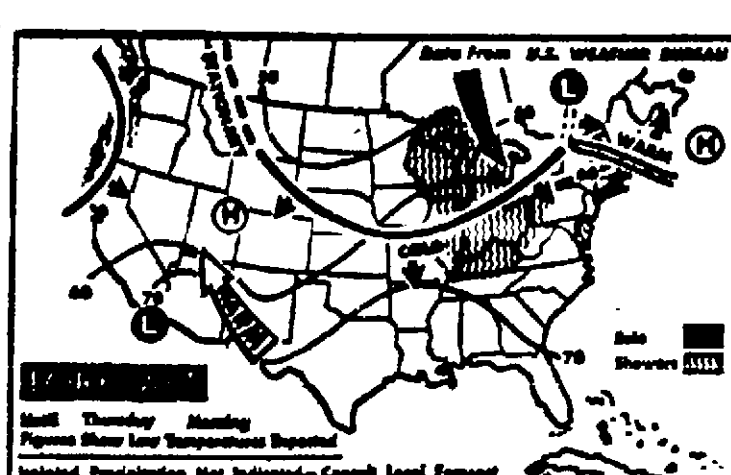

Bernhard said he challenged the chief's statement. At this point Corbett injected the comment, "Chief, you are putting us behind the eight-ball."

Corbett said women members of Chamber committees had angle parking on their minds and were insisting that it be continued.

Good Opportunity

"I think if we try front-to-back parking on the two blocks of College Avenue it would be a good opportunity for women to see how easy it is to get in and out of parking stalls," Wolff said. He could see no sense to conducting the experiment on a side street.

Chamber representatives did not say whether they were for or against the two-block trial project on the avenue.

School Board to Buy Kaukauna Legion Land

$4,000 Acquisition Will Allow Parking Area, Expansion of KHS

KAUKAUNA — The board of education voted Tuesday to purchase the abandoned American Legion clubrooms at a cost of $4,000.

The property is located slightly east of the existing high school area and will be utilized for parking area and future high school expansion. The legion asked $5,900 for the property at the last meeting, but board members felt the cost was too high and asked for another proposal.

After approving the purchase, board members authorized the superintendent of schools to advertise for bids on demolition of the old building. The structure is to be removed by March 1.

Bids Accepted

Low bid of $900 for the land, trophy area to Paul Little, forscaping of the physical education area around the high school was accepted.

The superintendent was authorized to contact contractors to ascertain whether they would be interested in under-taking snow removal duties on school parking lots for the coming year. He also was authorized to enter into agreement with a private citizen for marking of the school parking lot at a cost of about $450.

The superintendent was authorized to purchase a plaque for trophy cases in the new high school addition, dedicating the trophy area to Paul Little, former principal and coach. He was instructed to contact a heating engineer to determine whether something could be done to reduce heat in four rooms in the old building.

Rooms Overheated

Reflection from sun on adjacent roofs raises the temperature in these rooms about 18 degrees above the outside temperature, according to Julian Bichler, superintendent.

Board members entered into agreement with the vocational school to pay 4 cents per hour per student for children enrolled in home economics and shop courses to help defray cost of materials. In return the vocational board agreed to pay $2,700 per year for heating of the vocational building.

The superintendent was authorized to secure bids for placing shelves in the lunch room. A report on the new hot lunch program showed the school is serving between 900 and 1,000 students per day. Board members authorized the hiring of a seventh cook with the understanding hours worked by other cooks would be reduced.

Police Aid Tot Burned By Coffee

Police responded to pleas of a desperate father this morning who drove to the Appleton Police Station seeking help for his 9-month-old son who had been burned by spilled coffee.

Police said Russell R. Guptill, 327 W. Prospect Ave., drove his car with one hand and carried his son, Russell Jr., wrapped in a towel, in the other, from his home to the station about 8 a.m.

When Guptill arrived at the station, he met Patrolman William Wolff who was leaving the station to report to his beat. Guptill asked Wolff for help and said his son had been hurt.

Wolff asked for an escort, then got into Guptill's car. A squad car driven by Sgt. Vernal Remter provided an escort with red light and siren for the dash to the Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Hospital authorities said the baby was treated and released from the emergency room at the hospital.

Guptill told police his son crawled to the kitchen table where he grabbed a cord from the coffee pot. The pot tipped over pouring hot coffee onto the child.

He said the Civil Aeronautics Board has approved a regional airport at a site other than Oshkosh, but said Esler, "the CAB has shown it can change its mind and it may do that again." Esler said he did not agree with Ponath that it was necessary to begin construction immediately.

Supv. John Dietz, (13th) said the county stands to save a great deal of money if the bids are let this fall. He said the attitude shown by Winnebago County officials shows no hope for an agreement on the issue.

(The Winnebago county airport committee at a meeting Tuesday reaffirmed its position that it is willing to meet with Outagamie county provided Fond du Lac and Green Lake counties are included. (Board Chairman Joseph Driller warned that such a meeting should not be construed that Winnebago county was approving any relocation of its present airport or was backing a joint airport in another location.)

JONES vs. JONES 9-11

Yes, they probably do. Most Americans expect more of marriage than of any other relationship. They expect to be loved even when they are most unlovable. They expect complete loyalty and fidelity. They expect an ongoing companionship that is familiar and precisely dear, yet exciting and romantic. They expect that happiness will come almost automatically just because they are married. Because they expect too much, they often are disappointed, unhappy, and feel that marriage has failed—when actually it sometimes is they who have failed marriage.

Is the individual only a social product?

Yes ☐ No ☐

No, says the famous anthropologist, Margaret Mead. Everybody knows that social change does occur, and thus is the result of the ways in which individuals in the society make their decisions. There are sometimes key individuals, like Lincoln, Robespierre, Hitler or Roosevelt, whose personal decisions are of especial importance for good or for evil. To understand any society we need to know much about the personalities of those who run it.

I WONDER IF MY TRIAL WILL BE FAIR AND JUST.

IT TAKES BRILLIANT MEN, WITH A PROFOUND SENSE OF JUSTICE AND FAIRNESS TO DEVISE PRUDENT LAWS, AND ENFORCE THEM DILIGENTLY.

THESE CLOWNS WILL PROBABLY PUT ME AWAY FOR SIX YEARS.

DAGWOOD, WHERE ARE YOU? I'M GOING SHOPPING.

I'M IN THE TUB.

I WANT YOU TO WRITE A CHECK FOR ME BEFORE I GO.

YOU'LL HAVE TO WAIT UNTIL I GET OUT OF THE TUB AND GET DRESSED.

THERE'S SOMETHING UNIDENTIFIED ABOUT WRITING A CHECK WITHOUT YOUR PANTS ON.

English Schoolmarm Enchanted by Hebrides

"The Mills Is Lonely" by Lil-shock of arrival, she stays and Ben Beckwith, now in its 11th stays, for nearly two years. printing in England, is one of her reasons become obvious the new books at the Appleton Public Library.

This cheerful, funny book recounts the personal experiences of a middle-aged English school teacher who, ordered by her doctor to rest, is lured by a remarkable letter to the remote Hebrides Islands. After the initial

She records their speech, their humor, their odd attitudes and her own reactions with a true and witty ear. She is a natural storyteller, and this book is rich in incident, personalities and a sense of place.

Master Mariner

The first sentence of "Lone Voyager" by Joseph E. Garland opens the reader into a voyage through the life of a master mariner whose "eyes were like marbles at the bottom of the sea." He was Howard Blackburn, a Gloucester fisherman at first, and his every voyage seemed to be something of a death voyage as well as a discovery — which accounts for the peculiarly inexpressive blue of his eyes.

He married fairly young, but the fact of his wife barely interested him. His face was toward the sea, and he had seven years before the mast by the age of 20. One disastrous fishing voyage in 1883 he was separated from his ship while in a dory during a blizzard. Five frozen days later he came safely ashore, with his hands pure, chipped ice around the ear shafts. He lost all his fingers and, eventually, each toe and a heel.

Back in Gloucester, he opened a tobacco shop as a famous man. He boosted this into "Blackburn" — a great New England bar of the Gay Nineties. But this was not enough. He built a small ship and, handless and alone, crossed the Atlantic to England and great fame.

Fantastic Record

He crossed again alone, setting a fantastic record of 38 days to Lisbon. His third voyage across failed, and he returned defeated. His story carries on, however, right through Prohibition and into the Depression. Biographer Garland has a cool pen for block-and-tackle prose — poetry, a rhetoric that never melts.

Other new books include "Birds of the Ocean" by Wilfrid Alexander, "Eight Men Out" by Elliot Asinof, "The Gold Ring" by Thomas Burke, "Laval" by Hubert Cole, "Sweetly Sings the Donkey" by Shelagh Delaney, "J. D. Salinger" by Warren French, "Timber and Men" by Ralph Hidy, and "Oswald Jacoby on Gambling" by Oswald Jacoby.

Also new are "They Fought Alone" by John Keats, "The Theatre in Spite of Itself" by Walter Kerr, "Food for the Emperor" by John Keys, "Bound for Diplomacy" by Valentine Lawford, "Ford: Decline and Rebirth" by Allan Nevins, "Latin America" by William Schurz, "The Reconstruction: the Inward Art" by Bradford Smith, "Telephone Poles and Other Poems" by John Updike, "Nuclear Ambush" by Earl Voss and "My War With Communism" by Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes.

New Novels

New novels are "The Old Mast" by Thomas Baird, "Guage of Deception" by K. G. Ballard, "Quartet in Farewell Time" by Mary Durant, "Cat and Mouse" by Gustor Grass, "Land of the Beautiful River" by Helmer Lindholm, "The Golden Land" by Giles Lutz, "With Murder in Mind" by Jan Roffman, "Stories of William Sansom" by William Sansom, "Possession" by Kamela Taylor, "A World Full of Nightingales" by Leo Vaughan, "The Third Encounter" by Sara Woods, and "A Dragon for Christmas" by Oswald Wynd.

Couple Fined on Conduct Charges

NEW LONDON — A rural New London couple appeared in Municipal Justice Court Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty to charges which stemmed from a disturbance at a local restaurant Monday night.

Lester Fields, 46, route 3, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly and was fined $50. Mrs. Fields, 43, admitted a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $25.

City police received a call at 10:45 p.m. and were told there was an argument at the restaurant. When police arrived, the argument between the Fields and a Neenah couple had moved to the center of N. Water Street.

When Fields continued to argue with police, he was taken to the city jail where he was held until his court appearance.

Lunts Tell Of Theater's Greek Roots

BY TV SCOUT

7-30 (Channel 7) — The Roots of Western is a new periodic CBS series on the sources of our civilization. The first of these programs is a look at early Greek theater, from whence sprang our own theater. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne narrate in Athens Theater of Dionysus. In a witty and informative way, they talk about Greek culture, the theatrical inception, costumes, acoustics and send the children off to bed before a brief and funny scene from Aristophanes' "Lysistrata," with Rosemary Harris and Alfred Drake.

6-30-7-30 (Channel 11) — Wagon Train repeats its last episode of this past season, which served to introduce Michael Burns to the cast. He'll be a regular this coming season. Here he plays a self-reliant youth, equipped with dog, who is walking from Philadelphia to Sacramento to find his father.

4-30-7-30 (Channel 2) — Another special tonight is Education in Latin America, a part-film, part-part investigation of the problem of educating that area, where illiteracy ranges as high as Haiti's 80 per cent. The first 25 minutes is a film, shot in Mexico, showing the progress being made there.

7-9 (Channel 4-5) — The Kraft Mystery Theater's "Go Look at Roses" is a new show, with a non-surprise ending but some flinty dialogue to keep you happy along the way. John Forsythe plays a hot-shot columnist whose office is in Norman Fell's taxi. He's approached by a distinguished group to find one member of their grammar school class — a genius — who never amounted to anything.

6-30-8 (Channel 2) — The Dick Van Dyke Show repeats a funny one, with Carl Reiner playing Dick's boss, comic Alan Brady. Dick, stumped for a skit he is supposed to write, takes an idea from his son — who got it from a television show, and a nasty law suit looms on the horrible horizon.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Naked City repeats a weak episode. It's an attempt at comedy, with Marisa Pavan and Harry Guardino as guest stars, but the laughs are few and the plot and characters are feeble.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Some interesting photography saves The Eleventh Hour's repeat from being an outright bore. Two not-very-interesting people — architect James Franciscus and his wife, Anne Francis — are outwardly in love, inwardly in hate. Franciscus' nightmares make this clear to Wendell Corey.

Show Business Gold Lures Dodger Pitcher

Don Drysdale's Whole Family in New Package Deal, Off-Season Work for Ace

BY JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Don Drysdale is pulling an Ozzie Nelson—the Dodgers' pitching ace has his whole family in showbusiness. The William Morris Agency, in a package deal, represents Don, his pretty wife, Ginger, and their daughter, Kelly, 3.

Don even has a Hollywood press agent. Not even Bo Belinsky has gone Hollywood to that extent. Money Interest

Drysdale has a one-word explanation for his interest in showbiz: money.

"It used to be every fan letter

I ever got had something to do with baseball," he says. "Now, over since I did that commercial, I get five times as much mail and the letters all begin the same: 'Are you still using that greasy kid stuff?' Makes you think."

No Actor

Frank Sinatra has signed Drysdale to a recording contract with Reprise - Warner Bros. records. Television and movie producers—hoping to cash in on the potential chance that the Dodgers will be in the world series—are after him for parts.

Drysdale, a handsome giant in the John Wayne tradition, is a natural for he-man roles. He's the first to admit he's an actor.

"I'd like to study but I don't think I'll have the time — I'm getting too many offers to star in shows."

Ginger, his wife, is a former Rose princess — and still looks it. She has been doing a lot of commercials under the name of Ginger Drysdale but her husband says she will use her maiden name in the future.

The baby is signed for commercial television modeling, too.

Winter Job

Drysdale doesn't let his acting career interfere with his baseball. "It's strictly a winter job for me. It beats hanging around the house."

Drysdale, at $40,000 upwards, is the Dodgers' highest paid hurler. One agency source says he may double that figure in showbusiness next winter.

Drivers Reminded To Heed Lights On School Buses

With schools in the state now open, The Wisconsin State Patrol has issued a reminder to motorists to heed the flashing red lights of a stopped school bus.

Capt. L. V. Versnik, commander of the patrol's Fox River Valley District, said in Fond du Lac that according to law drivers must come to a complete stop when they encounter a school bus stopped along the highway with its red lights flashing.

This applies, he said, whether the bus is going the same direction as the driver or coming toward him. The only exception is when the bus is on the other side of a divided highway.

"To show the relative importance the law places on stopping for school buses," he said, "failing to stop is a four-point violation."

The patrol commander pointed out that well over 300,000 children ride school buses in Wisconsin daily and depend on drivers to stop "With the lives of so many children at stake, the slight inconvenience in stopping is a small price for drivers to pay for their safety," he said.

Trucking Firm's Area Expanded

MADISON — Schneider Transport and Storage, Inc., of Green Bay, has been authorized by the Public Service Commission to broaden its hauling authority to transport property for the Nichols Paper Co. of Nichols, Outagamie County. The company is a division of the Straubel Paper Co., Green Bay, which has been served by the carrier.

The Seymour Transfer line opposed the application at a recent hearing, but the commission found that no traffic will be diverted from any other carrier through the extension of authority of Schneider.

New pep for tired husbands!

No wonder so many women complain that their husbands come home "too tired out to step out"! The churning tensions millions of men face on their jobs constantly drain them of the energy and vitality they might otherwise have.

That's why many doctors recommend supplementing the daily diet with

3 Oshkosh People Hurt in Bus Accident

Family Hospitalized Overnight; Injuries Not Believed Serious

SHAMROCK, Tex. (AP)—Three persons, identified as Oshkosh, Wis., residents, were among 28 injured Tuesday night when a Greyhound bus with 36 persons

Injured on Way To California

Mrs. Tesch and her two children have been identified as the wife and children of John Tesch, a former bartender at Hotel Athearn who left here about 1 1/2 months ago to work in California. A hotel employee said the mother and two children were on their way to Los Angeles, Calif., to visit Tesch.

aboard skidded during a storm and overturned 12 miles west of Shamrock on U.S. 66.

Among those taken to Shamrock General Hospital were John Tesch, 14, Mrs. June Tesch, 40, and Judy Tesch, 18, all of Oshkosh.

The bus was enroute from Chicago to Los Angeles when it braked to miss a swerving car. Twenty-two of the injured remained in hospitals overnight. Attendants said only two or three appeared to be in serious condition, although a number suffered broken bones and cuts.

Bus driver Madird Reid of Oklahoma City said a brilliant flash of lightning almost blinded him and may have caused the driver of a car ahead of the Greyhound bus to veer directly into its path.

Richard Fisher, 19, of Jefferson, Ohio, said later, however, that a powerful gust of wind caught the car as he was driving about 50 miles per hour, whipping it one lane to the left on the divided highway.

"The bus was starting to pass me and he had to lurch over to the left," Fisher said.

Skidding as Reid fought for control, the double-decker bus hit a depression dividing the roadway and flipped over on its right side. Fisher, other motorists and unhurt passengers were still removing dazed and injured occupants of the bus as ambulances arrived about 20 minutes later.

"It was terrible," said Fisher. "People were lying on the ground. It seemed like an eternity before anyone came."

Soaking rain added to discomfort of the injured. About 3 inches of rain fell in Shamrock.

W. F. Raney Work

Noted State History By Appleton Author Will be Republished

A re-issue of the book "Wisconsin: A Story of Progress" which first appeared in 1940 from the pen of the late Dr. William F. Raney has been made by Perin Press of Appleton.

Perin Press came into being when Dr. Raney's widow obtained the copyright from the original publisher, Prentice-Hall. With the assistance of Howard Thelin, Appleton, owner of Conkey's Book Store, the book has been reprinted with a photolithographic process, including the original photographs and maps. Minor typographical errors in the original edition were corrected. Like the original edition, the volume has over 500 pages and is clothbound.

When the book was first issued, Joseph Schaefer, then superintendent of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin and editor of the Wisconsin Magazine of History, wrote: "The book as a whole is sound in scholarship, accurate, notably informing and well written."

Of the re-issue, Robert C. Nesbit, associate professor of history at the University of Wisconsin, writes: "The fact is that Raney's history remains the standard single volume work in the field and has not been replaced. Until such time as there appears a successor volume to bring the story down to the present, Prof. Raney's book rightfully commands the field."

Prof. Raney's 35-year teaching career at Lawrence College began shortly after he completed his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin. Earlier, he had studied at Oxford as a Rhodes scholar from Nebraska. On retirement in 1955, he was given an honorary degree from Lawrence, and for several years thereafter, he worked on an official history of the college from its founding in 1847 through 1925, which was the end of Dean Wilson Naylor's acting presidency.

Kaukauna Man Will Face Morals Charge

Judge D. H. Sebor granted an adjournment until 2 p.m. Sept. 16 after Gerard asked for an opportunity to retain legal counsel. He was released under $500 bond.

Gerard was arrested by Appleton police after he allegedly molested an eight-year-old Appleton girl in the child's home Sept. 6.

Old Time Remedies Apparently Worked Only on Superstitious

BY CHARLES HOUSE

A letter from Appleton's Eugene Herman set me scurrying after home remedies. "I wish," wrote Mr. Herman, "that some time you would write about old time remedies." So I will.

But preparatory to them, I would like to point out that home remedies — some of them — were often hung onto mere superstition. What the ancients and sometimes our own elders considered to be effective cures were patently silly.

For example, the ordinary magnet was considered to be a valuable cure for many things. It was known to Aetius who lived circa the year 500 and wrote "We are assured that those who are troubled with the gout, or with convulsions, find relief when they hold a magnet in their hands."

Some time in the 1600's, a merchant became wealthy because he manufactured and sold magnetic toothpicks which were extolled as a preventative against pains in the teeth.

The morning dew, precisely on the 1st day of May, was thought to be a specific for the removal of freckles and for the improvement of the complexion. In the London Morning Post of May 2, 1791, this paragraph appeared: "Yesterday, according to annual custom, a number of persons went into the fields and bathed their faces with the dew on the grass under the idea that it would render them beautiful."

In early England, it was the strong belief that goats should not be under human observation for every moment of a 24 hour period. The cloven hoofs of the goats stimulated the people in their belief that goats were friendly with the Devil and that once in each 24 hour period they paid a visit to the Devil to have their heads combed. If a goat were watched the full period of 24 hours, the observer would suffer with the ague and "falling sickness."

As late as the 1700's, it was a belief that if one killed a robin, someone dear would die as a result. If the robin should die in one's hand, that hand would tremble for the remainder of one's life. George Smith, in 1770 wrote: "I never take away their feet, nor try."

To catch a robin, lest a friend should die.

Dick took a robin's nest from the cottage side.

And ere a twelvemonth, his mother died.

The people of Yorkshire believed that if a robin's nest were despoiled, the family cows would give bloody milk.

A plant known as mousear was considered a good preventative against injury for horses. F'd mousear in any form the horse — according to the belief — could not be hurt while being shod.

Go Power

And one early writer recorded this belief: "If (any person) take the plant mugwort and put it into his shoe in the morning, he will be able to go forty miles before noon and not be weary."

It was a well-known art and a well-practiced one to put a leek — a king of onions — somewhere within one's house or on top of the roof. If this were done, the house would never be struck by lightning.

Finger rings of certain kinds

Wednesday, Sept. 11, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent C10

were presumed to prevent cramps. Indeed, they were called "cramp rings" and were much in demand. The most effective cramp rings were those which had been blessed by a king.

There is a document still extant which was addressed to King Henry VIII by Lord Berners who was then an ambassador to Spain. The letter read in part: "If Your Grace remember me with some cramp rings ye shall do a thing much looked for."

Another weird belief was that of the "load stone ring", made of silver and mounted with a stone which — according to the belief — had been formed naturally in the head of very old loads. It was coveted by persons in high office because it was believed to warn them of attempts to poison them.

Catch That Toad

One writer in 1569 said "There is to be found in the heads of very old and great toads a stone they call borax or stein. They being used as rings, give forewarning against venom." It was thought that when poison was near the wearer of the toadstone ring would break out into perspiration and thus be warned.

Shakespeare alluded to this belief in these lines: "Sweet are the uses of adversity."

Which, like a toad, ugly and venomous,

Wears yet a precious jewel in his head."

Also valued for protection against poisoning was the horn of the unicorn which, of course, never was. Good substitutes, however were pieces of the horns of rhinoceros. These were sold at 4,000 ducats, and one writer discussed "A unicorn, whose horn is worth a city."

The Duke of Burgundy kept bits of rhino horn in their wine glasses and used other bits to touch every bit of meat they ever ate.

Coleridge reported a means to get rid of leg cramps was to press the feet hard upon the floor and repeat this couplet: "The Devil is tying a knot in my leg!"

Mark, Luke and John, unless I beg!"

In ancient times it was believed that the blood of a child was a cure for leprosy and that the "falling sickness" could be cured by the blood of an executed criminal, and some physicians of very early times thought that the medicine or salve should be applied not to a wound, but to the weapon which caused the wound.

Some Fetishes

The English of long ago believed that if one acquired a molar tooth from a cemetery and wore it as a pendant around the neck, it would cure tooth ache.

Politics Need Not Interfere In Friendships

Personal Feelings Must be Secondary Under U. S. System

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There appeared last Saturday in the press and on TV throughout the country a photograph showing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona chatting with President Kennedy at a White House ceremony honoring a retired Air Force general. The news dispatches said Mr. Kennedy, looking over the crowd, saw the Senator — who could be his Republican opponent next year for the presidency — and, calling him by his first name, summoned him to his side to share the limelight.

The incident was no surprise to anyone who is familiar with Washington customs, but it probably was puzzling to too many people who seem to think that, because persons differ in politics, they can't be friends. Indeed, as Mr. Kennedy called out to "Barry," there was some laughter and one correspondent wrote that the President, "presumably aware of the political incongruity," hastened to say: "We are all friends."

It was an incident which emphasizes that, under the American system of government, political differences can be sharp, but most of the men who hold office or aspire to elected posts realize that personal feelings must always be secondary, if not repressed, and that which counts is the thoughtful presentation of one's side of a controversial question.

Again and again, not only in federal election contests but in state and local campaigns, men who have been intimate friends find themselves running for office on opposite sides. The public may have a hard time being convinced from some of the speeches that there is no deep-seated personal antagonism. But there are few instances where the loser of an election is not among the first to extend his congratulations to the winner.

It has always been the view of this writer that controversies should be reported and analyzed in the press, too, without regard to personal feelings, though it's hard sometimes to get readers to believe such an impersonal approach is possible.

Opposite Sides
The last ten men who have been president of the United States and whom this writer has known seemed to be likeable persons, but, when certain criticisms were written about every one of them, some readers took it for granted each time that personal antagonism was involved.

Thus, for example, letters come in nowadays which use the word "hate." It is stated that nobody could criticize a president without having some feeling of hate or dislike. Such letters are depressing because the American system of public debate and a free press apparently is not thoroughly understood or appreciated by the authors of such missives.

President Kennedy, for example, is a very likeable person. This writer considers him a man with a conscientious desire to serve the public. As a member of the House of Representatives and as a senator, Mr. Kennedy became known in official circles, and reporters had a chance to talk with him and get acquainted. If a poll were taken among the writers who criticize him, it might well be found that his most vehement critics never have had and do not have now any personal dislike for the President. He truly has an attractive personality, and so has his brother, the attorney general.

But those who analyze the news feel a responsibility to the constituency they serve — particularly to readers who really want an evaluation of issues and events based on history, on honest judgment and on convictions formed over years of observation and awareness of the difference between sound and unsound public policies. To color the argument, however, with one's personal likes or dislikes is to ignore the main reason why public confidence is reposed in a free press.

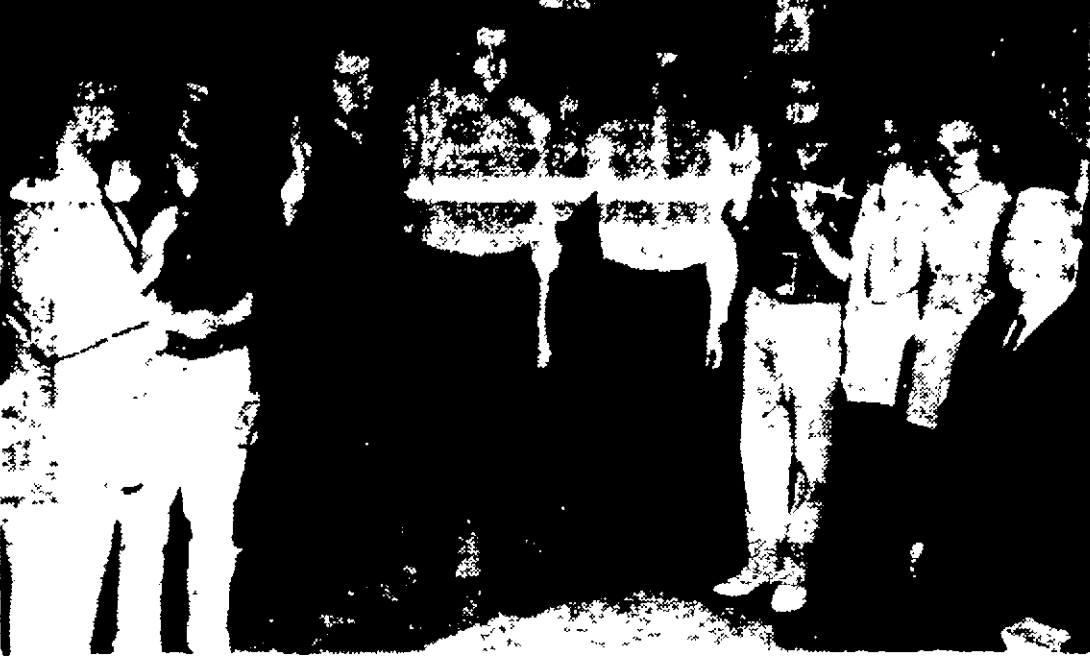

May be Proved Wrong
A view expressed by a news writer or analyst may subsequently be proved wrong, but there's also a chance it may be proved right. If it is wrong, no harm is done because it will be dis-

Hearing on Duck Creek Dam Stated for Oct. 1
MADISON — Plans by Brown County for the construction and operation of a dam in the Duck Creek river in the Town of Hobart are under review by the State Public Service Commission. A public hearing on the proposal will be at the Brown County courthouse Oct. 1.

regarded by the persons in office who have the final responsibility for the action taken. But if the criticism happens to be right, it could serve as a deterrent if the issue arises again. These are matters that have nothing to do with likes or dislikes, with personal feelings or emotions. One can like President Kennedy very much and still write impersonally about policies that need revision. In fact, if there were no adverse criticism, there would be little chance to make revisions opportunistly, and the public interest would not be served.

Sen. Goldwater may be Mr. Kennedy's opponent next year, and it may be taken for granted the two men will emphatically disagree and earnestly criticize one another in the campaign. But — and let the portrait painters of America's "image" abroad take notice — the two political adversaries will remain friends.

Koufax Snaps Own Strikeout Record As Dodgers Win

Cardinals Keep Pace With 8-0 Victory Over Cubs; Giants Lose

BY JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The remarkable Stan Musial set another major league record. Most home runs by a new grandfather 1. And the St. Louis Cardinals kept charging on.

The incredible Sandy Koufax broke his own National League strikeout mark. And the Los Angeles Dodgers stayed three games in front of the Cardinals in the National League pennant race.

Musial was up most of the night waiting for the birth of his first grandchild, then smacked a two-run homer as the Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 8-0 Tuesday night, for their 13th victory in 14 games.

Koufax won his 23rd game

Half of Bays Pass Receivers Are New Men

6 Rookies With Team for First League Tilt Sunday

GREEN BAY — The Packers have new blood in every spot but quarterback and running back and half the pass receivers are new.

This is by way of pinpointing the splash of youth added to the 1963 defending world champion Packers.

The team's roster was set at 57 Tuesday when Coach Vince Lombardi placed defensive lineman Tony Liscio and linebacker Ed Holler on waivers.

Eight new faces are on the squad that will launch Green Bay's 44th Packers season against the Bears in City Stadium Sunday. And six of them are rookies — offensive ends Marv Fleming and Jan Barrett; guard Dan Grumm; linebacker Dave Robinson; defensive end Lionel Aldridge and defensive half back Chuck Morris.

Still a Rookie

The other two have had experience though one of them, pass catcher Bob Jeter, still is classified as a rookie in the NFL. Jeter played two seasons in Canada and was on the cab squad last year. The other experienced is big U. N. Henry, the former Ram who will work at tackle or end in the defensive line.

Eight newcomers on a championship team? This is rare but it points up Lombardi's patented two-way look — at the present and in the future.

Fight members of the 1962 world champions have departed — offensive back Paul Hornung, offensive ends Gary Kneale and Gary Barnes, defensive linemen Bill Quinlan and Ron Gassert, defensive back John Symank, linebacker Nelson Toburen and guard Ed Blaine.

The most sweeping change has been at the pass-catching spot of defensive end and right half where Jeter, Fleming and Barrett join the big three — Max McGee, Boyd Dowler and Ron Kramer. The only other newcomer on offense is Dan Grumm who becomes the third guard behind Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer. Grumm also does the kicking off.

Defensively, the Packers have a rarity — a rookie starter. That would be Aldridge who figures to open at right defensive end, the spot vacated by Quinlan.

First Choice

Robinson, the Bays' first draft choice, is the fourth linebacker behind Bill Forester, Dan Currie and Ray Nitschke and Morris is the sixth defensive half back behind starters Hank Greenminger, Willie Wood, Herb Adderley, and

Dean Chance Wins Decision On Jaywalking

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dean Chance has yet to win an argument with an umpire but he won a decision in Municipal Court Tuesday.

A jaywalking charge against the 22-year-old Los Angeles Angel pitcher was dismissed when the arresting officer, Raul Barbosa, admitted he didn't actually see the walking infraction last July 20.

The officer said he was watching through the rear mirror of his patrol car and assumed that Chance and his companion pitcher Bill Faul of the Detroit Tigers jaywalked the street.

"I knew I hadn't done anything wrong. That's why I couldn't let the matter pass," Chance said. The charge against Faul was dismissed previously.

Veteran Joe Perry Placed on Waivers, Colts Get Jim Martin

BY BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Old Joe Perry, who broke into pro football when Casey Stengel was managing at Oakland and Bob Cousy was a kid in college is looking for a job.

The tough, 200-pound fullback who gouged almost five miles out of opposing National Football League lines was placed on waivers Tuesday as the Baltimore Colts cut back to a mandatory 37-man roster limit for this week-end's opening games.

Perry broke into pro football when he was signed as a free agent in 1948 by the San Francisco 49ers, then of the old All-America Conference. He was still with the 49ers when the club went into the NFL two years later.

Perry, who holds the league's all-time rushing record of 1,713 carries for 8,280 yards, went to Baltimore in 1961 and was made an expendable this year by the out-landish standing showing of fullback J. W.

7-Game Win Streak Is Broken

CINCINNATI (AP) — Milwaukee's hot and driving Braves, who had the Los Angeles Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals peeking over their shoulders, were cooled off a little Tuesday night.

The Braves failed to make the best of a 13-hit attack, including Hank Aaron's 40th and 41st home runs, and were outlasted 4-3 by the Cincinnati Reds.

The defeat broke a seven-game Milwaukee winning streak and dropped the Braves eight games behind the league-leading Dodgers and five behind the second-place Cards. Milwaukee hung on to its game and a half edge for San Francisco's fourth place Giants.

A trio of Milwaukee hurlers, including starter and loser Bob Shaw, labored in vain. Shaw gave up all the Reds' six hits and all their runs in the four and two-thirds innings he pitched and was charged with his 11th defeat in 17 decisions. Dan Schneider and Tony Cloninger pitched hitless relief ball.

Gets Third Hit

John Tisitorius gave up all the Milwaukee hits and was finally battered out after Aaron opened the ninth with his third hit, a single. But Tisitorius took the victory, and is 9-8. He also was nipped for three hits each by Ty Cline and Roy McMillan and gave up a pair to Gene Oliver.

Shaw, recently returned from the bullpen, whipped through the Reds in order in the first inning but they started to work on him in the second. Johnny Edwards hit his 11th homer with one out and Bob Skinner followed with a double and scored on a single by Eddie Kasko.

Coach Heseltin Reports Defense Is Looking Good

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The reactivated Lawrence Men's Club was given an optimistic slant on Viking 1963 football prospects Tuesday night.

Among the more positive developments at the Riverview Country Club meeting were:

(1) Dr. Curtis Tarr, new college president, predicted a "fine season."

(2) Ticket sales are ahead of last year when Lawrence achieved a 6-2 record.

(3) Coach Bernie Heseltin has such a large number of candidates out that he referred to notes when mentioning the positions they all play.

Morale High

Though he injected some of his time-tested pessimism in his remarks (such as "I'm afraid we won't be ready for the St. Olaf opener"), Heseltin let it be known that this is the greatest season in a long time "in terms of morale." He said the roster has grown to an almost-unheard-of total of 43 "we're only one short of four full teams."

Heseltin said the defensive unit looks "pretty good" and he figures it can hold the opposition until the offense is ready to yell.

The Viking coach indicated that he is not nearly so worried about the quarterback situation as he was before last Saturday's scrimmage. Dennis Koskelin looked good in the scrimmage and he will do the job for the Vikes, Heseltin explained.

Heseltin also reported that sophomore Bob Schoenwetter is looking better every day and is giving Dave Brannard a run for the starting left halfback job.

Lawrence has the best group of Fox Cities area players it has had in some time, Heseltin noted. They include Appleton's Pat Keane, a 145-pound speedster who will see spot duty in the backfield and former Appletonian Jim Salter, 6-2, 205-pound end.

Hear Scouting Reports Beating Packers One Of Two Chicago Goals

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Bear Week. There was a new Packer face on the local scene Monday.

Wally Cruice, the Pack's chief scout, made it up from Milwaukee and promptly reported to the Bears. The team let out a whoop after he presented his blackboard talk.

Cruice watched the Bears in three games and among other things gleaned this bit of information—at least for public consumption.

"The Bears want to accomplish at least two things this year," Wally pointed out, "and they are, making their ground game work and beating Green Bay."

Anything else? "That's enough," Cruice said.

Also Scouted

The Packers also were scouted by the Bears—in fact, in every pre-season game. Not missing a trick in the pressbox were Pete Halas and on occasion Bill Wightkum, the former Bear tackle.

These scouts lead a sort of lonely life. They rarely get to see their own club play. They're always on the road scouting the next foe.

The Packers broke camp Tuesday, leaving St. Norbert College after a 9-week stay. Most of the players have their families here and merely switched residences.

Badgers Work On Defense In 2 Drills

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin football squad turned its attention to defense in both of Tuesday's workouts.

Four players remained on the sidelines but all except veteran end Larry Howard are expected to return to action this week. Howard is on crutches because of a knee injury and will be out in definitely.

Others missing the drill were Co-captain and guard Andy Wojdala and halfbacks Jerry Hackbart and Pete Hambrick. Wojdala has chest bruises. Hackbart a knee injury and Hambrick a throat infection.

The official weigh-in disclosed that the squad's heaviest player is senior tackle Roger Pillath, a 245-pounder. Halfback Billy Smith is the lightest at 150 pounds.

Henry Carr Moved Up to First Team At Arizona State

PAISON ARIZ (AP) — Henry Carr, holder of the world record for the 220-yard dash, was elevated to first string left halfback Monday on the Arizona State University football team.

Coach Frank Kush moved Carr ahead of Gene Foster. Both are juniors.

Last fall Carr averaged more than eight yards per carry in limited action. He was hobbled much of the season with leg injuries.

Etcheverry played 11 seasons in Canada before going to St. Louis. He was cut by the Cards recently.

Release Three

Washington released three players including quarterback Galen Hall. Hall, a Penn State product, was in his second season in the league and was the Redskins' No. 2 quarterback most of last season. He lost his job to George Izo in pre-season games.

Most of the other players involved in the final cuts were rookies or second-year men. The defending champion Green Bay Packers asked waivers on rookie linebacker Tony Liscio and line-backer Ed Holler, while Eastern Atlanta reportedly has abandoned hopes of getting either Cleveland or Kansas City which would leave their planning centered on the Braves' moved from Boston to Milwaukee in 1953 by Lou Perini, who sold out all but a small interest last year.

Milwaukee's home attendance dropped from National League record levels in the late 1950s to 766,921 last year, and is running at about the same pace this season despite a late season drive that carried the team to third place.

Baltimore to Open With 7 Rookies

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts will begin the 1963 National Football League season Sunday with seven rookies on the squad of 37 and three of the rookies may start against the New York Giants.

In addition, a newcomer, J. W. Lockett, will be at fullback as the Colts take off under Don Shula as head coach. Lockett, after two years of bouncing around with San Francisco and Dallas, seems to have filled a Baltimore need.

By so doing, he caused the release Tuesday of Joe Perry, fullback for 13 NFL seasons, the last two with the Colts.

In a last minute deal Shula also acquired a veteran place-kicker, Fleming who started at tight end and Jim Martin, from the Detroit Lions in place of the flustered Ron Olsen for a draft choice. Martin is a kicker in Cedar Rapids. "We're trying a comeback after a year's layoff. He had booted field goals there?" Fleming was pleased as for 11 years for the Lions.

Freedom Will Face Denmark In Little Nine

Wrightstown '11', Hortonville Clash Friday Afternoon

Friday Afternoon's Games:

Reedsville at Hilbert.
Denmark at Freedom.
Savastopol at Winneconne (non-conf.)

Denmark and Freedom, two of the unbeaten Little Nine Conference football teams after the first round of action, will meet at Freedom Friday afternoon in the spotlight game.

League activity gets underway Thursday night with Oono traveling to Shiocton. Other Friday afternoon contests will have Wrightstown at Hortonville, Reedsville at Hilbert and Winneconne plays a non-conference game against Savastopol.

Denmark looked strong in a 19-6 victory over Reedsville last week while Freedom pulled out a surprise 19-14 victory over Hortonville.

Scoring Punch
A passing combination of quarterback Glen Bowers to Jerry Kieffer, transfer sophomore from Abbot Pennings High School, provided Freedom with a scoring punch that accounted for two touchdowns. One of the scores came on a 73-yard play.

Leon Rasmussen again is the big threat for Denmark. The veteran quarterback passed for one touchdown against Reedsville and set up another score with a long aerial.

Both Oono and Shiocton dropped close games in openers. Oono lost by one point to Winneconne and Shiocton gave defending champion Wrightstown a scare before bowing.

Wrightstown will be seeking its second win at Hortonville's expense while the Polar Bears have been working on perking up the offense which failed to click until late in the Freedom game.

Paul Coppo Honored

Seymour Hurler Selected as Most Valuable in 'Dairyland'

NICHOLS — Seymour pitcher Paul Coppo was selected as the "Most Valuable Player" in the Dairyland League at a league meeting at the Nichols Ball Room Tuesday night.

The circuit couldn't agree on one "Rookie of the Year", so four were picked in a tie ballot. They were Glenn Bowers, Freedom second baseman; Don Kettner, Black Creek pitcher; Eugene Luebke, Bonduel catcher; and Wayne Roblee, Landstad outfielder.

The league also made Freedom an official member of the loop. The team was admitted on probation last year.

Seymour was awarded its championship trophy and Bonduel, Garsow, and Landstad were voted "runnerup" trophies. Bonduel won the second half crown and Landstad and Garsow tied for second in the first half. Rather than having a playoff, league members voted to award three trophies. Black Creek and Freedom were also cited as the "Most Improved Clubs" this past season.

Foss Predicts Inter-League Title Game Could Come in '64

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Foss, commissioner of the American Football League, predicted Tuesday that an inter-league championship game between the top teams of the AFL and the National Football League "could come about after the 1964 season."

Foss made the prediction at a wide-ranging news conference during a stop-over here.

Foss also said he would like to see the Kansas City Chiefs play the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL.

The Chiefs, formerly the Texans, were moved here from Dallas this year. Foss noted that the AFL and NFL began operating in Dallas the same year, and that the Cowboys are now regarded as a top contender for the NFL's Eastern Division title.

"We have come up the same route they have," he said.

Foss said that six of the eight AFL clubs "could very well reach the break-even point this year financially. He said the exceptions are New York and Oakland, and that their financial picture would be greatly improved. New York, he said, could conceivably break even.

"Great Gentleman"

Foss said the AFL "lost a great gentleman when we lost Stone Johnson. He had many friends."

Johnson, 23, a promising rookie with the Chiefs, suffered a broken neck in an exhibition game at Wichita, Kan., Aug. 31 and died Sunday night.

Foss said the league had no provision for taking care of medical bills, and providing financial compensation for the families in

Bob Halford, Chiefs publicity director, said Johnson's family would receive compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Laws, and would be paid the full amount of Johnson's contract with the chiefs.

"The family will get roughly $20,000, maybe more," Halford said.

Eagles' Ron Goodwin Has Appendectomy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie end Ron Goodwin of the Philadelphia Eagles underwent an emergency appendectomy Tuesday night and will miss at least the first two games of the National Football League season.

of the Post-Crescent

Yes, the lady in his life—from teenager waving the high school pennant to married woman at the pro game, reads and knows about her particular football hero. As with most of what is exciting and interesting in life, men are not solitary figures in the fields. There are no "for men only" tags on sports.

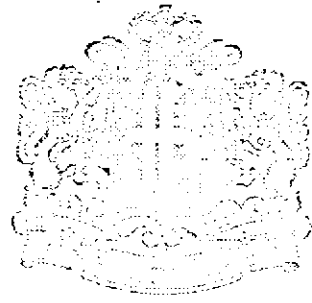

And, like her sweetheart or husband, our lady derives more sports knowledge and description in the daily and Sunday sports pages of the Post-Crescent.

Postmaster General Gronouski

The postoffice department of the United States government, to a degree that has survived in none of the other agencies of Washington, remains under the thumb of the patronage managers of the party that happens to be in control of the administration. Thus there should have been no great surprise, although there might be some regret among Republicans and independents and others who do not regard themselves as adherents of the party now in power in the capital, that the selection of John Gronouski of Wisconsin as the new postmaster general was in the classical mold.

Mr. Gronouski made little jokes out of his replies to interrogators who asked him what he knew about the postal service. He said he cannot remember his "ZIP" number, but he quickly added that like thousands of other Americans, he has been a lifelong stamp collector. This is of the pattern of the man who was selected as Wisconsin motor vehicle commissioner some years ago and was described as being qualified for that job because he possessed an auto driving permit.

Mr. Gronouski has had some experience in public administration, as the director of the state department of taxation for the last four years, and thus he is perhaps more qualified in a technical way than were most of his predecessors. We might recollect, quite objectively, as an example President Eisenhower's appointment of Mr. Summerfield of Michigan a few years ago. Mr. Summerfield's professional distinction was in motor vehicle retailing.

But Mr. Summerfield was also among those Republican managers who wrested the 1952 nomination for Gen. Eisenhower from Sen. Taft in the convention of his party that year. Mr. Gronouski was one of the comparatively few leading Democrats of our state who chose to back Mr. Kennedy in the early pre-convention months of 1960, and in the Wisconsin delegate election of that year which gave the young presidential aspirant such a strategically important push toward his White House nomination goal. We have been among those who have expressed doubts about the compatibility of the intense partisan activity that Mr. Gronouski has shown with the business of collecting state income taxes and others. But these considerations do not concern the White House. It is interested in partisan ideological loyalty, and perhaps as a bonus, in impressing upon the big Polish-American population of the country in 1964 its tender regard.

Mr. Gronouski has a big job. There is no basic service of the national government which cries out as loudly for effective direction and operation as the postal service. Yet we confess to a lingering, if weakening hope, that one day we can hire non-political technicians for the job of delivering the mail—from the top of the 500,000 man establishment in Washington to the fellow at the end of the line who follows the rural delivery routes.

Rothwell's Answer to the NAACP

Angus Rothwell, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Wisconsin, gave a good answer to the requests by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that he issue some sort of a ruling against school segregation. Rothwell pointed out that investigation showed that there was no attempt to make schools segregated in the drawing up of school district boundaries.

Rothwell noted that there was a Negro housing problem in the state. This contributes toward a sort of de facto segregation. But he added "I think you will agree that the solution of these problems is not for our department to determine."

Milwaukee now has a free transfer policy whereby any child, with the backing of his parents, may be transferred to another school if there is good and sufficient reason for the shift and if the second school is not overcrowded. Actually many school systems permit such transfers even though it may not be a part of written policy. If a child has particular difficulties in a school, because of companions or a teacher, or if he seeks a particular course, he may be transferred if the move is obviously one for his educational benefit.

There are a lot of schools in Wisconsin which do not come up to the standards of the better schools. All the pressures of the last two decades toward integration of rural schools into larger districts, first at the elementary and then the secondary level, have been aimed at improving the opportunities for country children. The job is not completed nor probably will it ever be. There will always be some discrepancies in opportunities because of the make-up of classes or the abilities of teachers. There are still many one and two room schools with inadequate facilities, limited teaching experience or background. There are other larger schools where a lack of imagination among school board members or administration handicaps new programs and experimental ideas which might raise educational horizons. In the Fox River Valley there are all sorts of variations among individual programs in various schools.

It is not always easy to determine which schools are doing fine work. Statistics of the futures of the graduates help but this must also take into consideration their home background. In Wisconsin, for instance, a discouragingly low percentage of farm youth go on to college in comparison with the children of city residents. But no one has suggested hauling half the city children to the country schools or the union free high schools, and bussing half the rural pupils into the cities.

The complaints of the NAACP have probably been good for Wisconsin in that they have highlighted the problems of these schools that have a high percentage of Negro children. But demands for transfer based entirely upon race overlook the whole meaning of discrimination. Wisconsin law opposes racial or religious discrimination either for or against an individual. There is a big difference between the "right" of attending a school in one's neighborhood regardless of one's color as is being fought out in the south, and the "privilege" of being shifted somewhere else, again because of color. The latter is as contrary to Wisconsin law as is banning a youngster from a school because of color.

Hope for the Russians?

There is hope for the Russians after all. The government may not concede the point and Khrushchev may still mutter about burying the western world, but a lot of Russians are showing capitalistic tendencies.

Soviet authorities have announced the indictment of a number of men and women who were allegedly members of a gold speculation ring. Specifically they are charged with a plot to reduce the government's gold stocks, a crime which ranks worse than murder in the Red world.

The dossiers on the ring report that the members first tried to buy gold, platinum or precious gems but they hung around the Jewelry Trust so much that officials became suspicious. Then they took to buying the gold paint used in decorating china.

Looking Backward

McClellan Reports on Campaign

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 12, 1863.

It was stated in our Washington correspondence that the War Department has given Gen. Hunt in charge of Gen. McClellan's reports of his campaigns in Virginia in order to examine them with a view to decide whether they are worthy of publication. The idea of insulting Gen. McClellan by submitting his reports to the judgment of an officer who ranks beneath him in service, and who signally failed in South Carolina, is worthy of Mr. Stanton and in keeping with the rest of his conduct toward Gen. McClellan.

The bulk of the reports and the expense of publication are urged as objections. If the War Department does not want to publish them, at the expense of the Treasury, just let it return them to Gen. McClellan. He can easily find a publisher in New York who will give $20,000 for the manuscript.

If they are not published at once, the country will come to the conclusion that it is because there is too much truth in them for Washington officials.

It is understood that Gen. McClellan has applied to the War Department for leave to print his voluminous report at his own expense. Permission will probably be granted to publish the work the same as a private work, the War Department disclaiming any responsibility in the matter.

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Sept. 7, 1938.
Menasha police searched law books for a statute that would cover: drunken driving — in a motorboat — after four men in a cabin cruiser spent confused moments cruising in front of the Menasha dock on the Fox River looking for the canal entrance. One of the men fell out during the circling, was ignored and swam to shore as his companions straightened out and weaved off down the river.

Appleton Girl Scout headquarters were moved to 113 W. Harris St. and the change was celebrated with an open house that afternoon and evening. Committee chairman for the festivities were Mrs. S. C. Shannon, Mrs. William Schubert, Mrs. John Ruhling, Mrs. Dan Courtney and Mrs. Milton C. Towner.

Gov. Philip LaFollette spoke at the Kaukauna Labor Day picnic and told the hundreds who swarmed to the park to hear him that if business couldn't provide all with a livelihood, the government must step in.

10 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1953.
Communists were charged with holding back 3,404 prisoners from Operation Big Switch.

U. N. command demanded the return or an accounting of each of the prisoners, among whom were 944 Americans.

The Robert J. Spooner family was named typical YMCA family of the year. Mr. and Mrs. Spooner and their three children all had participated in Y activities, exempting the year's theme, "An activity for every member of the family."

Five trophies each were awarded to Dick DuBois and Don Schultz for their victories in the Neenah Nodaway Yacht Club competition. Hamilton S. Craig was reappointed commodore.

People's Forum

Once a Month Withholding Would Show Up Tax Burden

Editor, Post-Crescent:

For several years I have been an interested student of encroachment of the federal government into the lives of American citizens and the controlling (as well as direct competition with) free enterprise.

In 1909 the Hon. Richard E. Byrd predicted that a federal income tax would become the destroyer of liberty and constitutional government. He said "When the federal government gets a strangle hold on the individual businessman, state lines will exist nowhere but on maps. Its agents will everywhere supervise the commercial life of the states. I believe that without the purse-strings, our government cannot control us in its present manner."

It seems to me that Roosevelt realized that you can't impose too much tax on the people to pay for the "benefits" promised. People will then complain about the tax and forget about the benefits. Thus, our deficit financing began by borrowing from future generations to pay for handouts to present voters.

I am sure that we will agree that deficit financing causes inflation even though it may seem for a short period to help the economy. However, sooner or later, people living on pensions or those living on salaries soon begin to suffer.

Thus, deficit financing came about which would give the people immediate benefits but would be paid for by someone else. Minimum wage laws were enacted to force employers to pay wages above the free-market level. This gave the unions the sanction of law to force industry-wide wage raises. These reliefs were short-lived.

The expedient way to keep taxpayers happy was to enforce the "war emergency" withholding tax instigated by Secretary Morgenthau. This, of course, turned into the Current Tax Payment Act of 1943 to make the "Victory Tax" permanent.

Today I believe the federal government has a strangle hold on the economy.

The wage earner does not have to save his money to pay the government his 25 to 50 per cent federal income tax. This has been done for him at the employer's expense. The employee merely adjusts himself to his take-home pay. If his take-home pay is not enough he complains to his employer not the government. People thus do not demand lower taxes but higher wages.

To make this withholding tax situation even more ridiculous the government forces employers to deduct more taxes than the employee owes. (slavery or involuntary servitude?) At the end of the year the Government, by refunding our money, thus seems to be the good samaritan.

Recently I read about an interesting move now going on which is designed to show the wage earner that the cost of all the "benefits" with accompanying controls is being paid for by none other than himself. (Without the purse-strings the Government cannot spend-spend, elect-elect.)

The plan which to me seems highly plausible is this:

1. Federal regulations require employers to deposit in a designated bank the total of all federal taxes withheld on a monthly basis. This is usually prorated by employers on a pay-day basis so that employees never fully realize what it would be like to get a full pay-check.

2. The plan devised by some companies is to collect Federal taxes (social security and withholding) only once a month.

Thus, a person whose salary is $125 weekly would now draw $99.25 per week, and likely this amount is taken for granted as wages. Under the once-a-month plan this person would receive the full $125.00 per week for the first three weeks. This $125.00 would be the full expendable income. However, the fourth week the pay check would show only $22.68. This would graphically show that the taxes represent almost a full week's work. In some cases the fourth week's work might even show a deficit.

This same type of illustration would hold true of bi-monthly wages.

Perhaps it would be feasible for employers to promote good citizenship and sound government through this plan of "once-a-month withholding taxes."

I think the time has come to show the wage-earners that his share of supporting his "benefits" is very real and that this money is placing many restrictions on his freedom. This is contrary to public opinion today whereby wage-earners merely blame the employer for his low "wages." (take home pay)

Schools Should Influence What Our Children Read

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I feel obliged to comment on our most wonderful "public" newspaper — Appleton Post-Crescent. The large informative headlines reveal contents quickly. The news can be disheartening (Crime in U. S. Overwhelming Our Society . . . Two Girls Murdered in New York . . . Wife of Chilean Consul General Murdered in New Jersey) but heartening is the fact that our public newspaper is trying to "influence" proper reading matter for children — "What Do Your Children Read?" — editorial, Sept. 5.

The Post-Crescent delights me with church news, with news about activities of those dedicated to save souls. Messages in "The Power of Faith" are most inspiring, and the message in "Thus Was the Faith of Our Fathers" could save the world.

Would that public schools would follow suit. Rather than to ban the "God Bless us . . . and our country," attack instead the many, many printed curses and the violence and indecency now so freely loaded on to American bookshelves and racks — even placed into our children's hands as English assignments!

Wisconsin Report

We're Still an Income Tax State; Sales Levies Raise 14 Pct. of Total

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — If the Wisconsin voter judged the matter entirely on the basis of the sales tax quarrelling in state politics of the last couple of years, he would now be inclined to believe that the levy upon goods and services has become a critically important part of the under-pinnings of the state treasury.

One of the valuable results of an admirable summary of the state's current and prospective financial picture as just published by the State Department of Administration is to give the lie to such an impression.

After all of the disputation of the last two legislative sessions, the true "sales" taxes levied by the state, including those newly added to the list for the financing of the current biennial budget, will yield only 14 per cent of the total state treasury tax receipts.

That is a substantial amount of dollars, of course, and the state obviously could not maintain its present level of activity without those dollars. But it is a modest ratio, nevertheless. For example, it is about equal to the taxes yielded by the levies upon inheritances and gifts and public utilities, which are so minor in their total impact that they are rarely even talked about and are probably unfamiliar to the vast majority of voters on the street.

AN INCOME TAX STATE

This remains an income tax state. Even with the controversial additions to the sales tax list recently enacted, the personal income taxpayer — Mr. and Mrs. John Smith — will continue to pay nearly half of all of the state tax dollars. The new financial report makes the precise estimate of 47 per cent for the individual income tax. The corporation income tax will realize about 13 per cent, so that the total of income tax yield will remain at 60 per cent of gross intake of tax dollars, or just about what it was during the last two years.

The state has managed during the last two legislative sessions — although it was not clear during the explosive political arguments and intensive political maneuvers — to maintain the same ratio of income tax liability for the total state budget and has added modest sales taxes to permit some expansion of the total of spending.

Thus the "ability to pay" idea upon which Gov. Reynolds and other liberals set so much store has been maintained. The state's tax structure, considered as a whole, remains as "progressive" as it was during the era of simpler services and smaller budgets. That may be a useful point for the state administration during the next hard political campaign. Indeed, it is doing no injustice to the governor to suggest that this was one of the purposes Howard Koop, his administration chief, had in mind when he put out the report.

LOCAL GOBBLE

The document also provides another reminder that the financing problem, however it is measured, is not a "state" problem in the true sense, but one that results from the state's involvement in the financing of its creature localities.

This is another favorite theme of the state administration now in office, and very possibly a defensive one. The vast bulk of the money collected from the people by the state is returned to local units of government for locally administered services, some of them required by state enactment, but all of them nevertheless under local control and obviously desired by local residents.

Although it is useful to have these reminders, if only for civic instruction purposes, to recite these facts is not especially helpful. The state has undertaken these responsibilities and is not likely to be able to shed them. Nor is it useful for local community spokesmen to cavil about the state officials' worry and reluctance about finding the money, as one editor did in an article that was sent to this reporter the other day. The writer examined his local school budget, and demanded in effect: "What is the state going to do about it?"

It would have been more constructive had he made a suggestion about further state tax sources, after the noisy barrel scraping that took place in the legislature this year.

Strictly Personal

It's True We Often Hate Those We Love

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

An interesting letter arrived in the mail yesterday, signed "Unhappy Stepmother." The lady sorrowfully wants to know why stepmothers have such a bad reputation, in story and legend.

"I recently became the stepmother of a child," she discloses, "and I find that they have all kinds of preconceptions about a stepmother being wicked and cruel and coldhearted. They have read and heard so much about the 'bad' stepmother in fiction and fairy tale."

My own theory on this subject may not appeal to a lot of people, but I think that the "wicked stepmother" fable arose out of children's resentments against their real mothers — which they were too ashamed to confess openly.

In other words, I believe that the bad stepmother serves as a substitute for our early feelings of hostility against our own parents. One of the commonest of childhood fantasies, when we feel our parents have treated us badly, is to pretend that they are not our real parents at all, but imposters who kidnapped us when we were in the cradle.

Fairy tales of every nation are full of incidents about young princes and princesses who were stolen from the castle as babies, and are subsequently restored to their rightful places and parents.

This fiction fits perfectly into the childish feeling of "not belonging" to our own family, when our parents seem harsh and unjust toward us. We retaliate, so to speak, by creating a fictional family for ourselves.

By making a bogey out of the stepmother, we are able to discharge our aggressions against our real mothers without feeling any of the guilt that would normally accompany such an attitude.

There seems no other way to explain the widespread antipathy to the stepmother — who, in reality usually bends over backward to be kind and understanding toward the children of her husband.

One of the wisdoms of modern psychology is the frank recognition that we sometimes hate those we love — that, in fact, we can truly hate only those who are close to us.

Parents who handle their children skillfully make allowances for these moments of hate, and do not let the children feel guilty for expressing these feelings. In the past, such expressions were taboo, and so the myth of the stepmother was created to make it easy and acceptable for young people to get rid of "bad" feelings toward their parents.

Birmingham Schools Integrate Peacefully

Guardsmen On Standby, Not Needed

BY DON MCKEE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of white pupils went to class in integrated Birmingham schools today with no disorders reported.

The same situation existed in desegregated schools at Mobile, Tuskegee and Huntsville.

Federalized National Guardsmen at Birmingham were on a standby, ready to go on school property only if asked by city and school officials.

No major crowds congregated on the grounds of West End High, where hundreds of white pupils and some adult demonstrators, created disorders Tuesday which brought nine arrests.

Ordered to Enter

The two Negro pupils entered West End a half hour before class time. Police required white boys and girls to enter the building upon arrival or leave the vicinity.

About 200 white pupils massed in a yard near the school. They attempted first to congregate on the football field but police chased them away. Adult pickets who wanted to stage a march near the school were halted by police.

A caravan of cars bearing states rights demonstrators rolled by the school but police refused to let them stop. The cars bore the usual Confederate flags and anti-Negro signs.

High and Graymont Elementary, the other desegregated city schools. At Ramsay a police captain urged pupils: "Please go into classes — you'll be doing me a favor by doing so."

At Mobile, there was a mild vocal demonstration when two Negroes went to integrated classes for the second day. The chanting of "We don't want to integrate" was heard.

Kennedy Fared Well in Crisis On Integration

Federal Force Not Needed to Enforce Edicts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration today reviewed its role in its latest clash with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and decided it had fared pretty well, all things considered.

The federal government had been able to enforce court orders integrating schools in three Alabama cities without resorting to federal force.

With a bit of carefully planned paperwork — the federalizing of National Guardsmen summoned to duty earlier by Wallace himself — it was able to get the soldiers out of the picture entirely.

A government source close to the inner workings of the federal-state conflict said the drama may not be over and Wallace may uncover some new maneuver. But he made it clear the administration was highly pleased with the day's outcome — especially so because the job of maintaining peace in Birmingham, Tuskegee and Mobile was solidly in the hands of local police officers. Soldiers were nowhere in sight.

Elaborate Plans

The central government had devised elaborate plans for more than a week to meet any possible Wallace move, the source said. He indicated that the avowed segregationist governor kept the administration guessing at every turn in his battle to keep the Negroes out of the schools.

Russell Fears Disarmament Without On-Site Inspection

Georgia Democrat Gives Reason For Opposing Test Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell expressed fear today that the limited nuclear test-ban treaty might point the way toward world disarmament without on-site inspection.

"No one is more in favor of disarmament than I am," said the Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee before the Senate began its third day of formal debate on the pact.

"I would be willing to abolish all nuclear weapons."

"But we are giving up the conception of on-site inspection in this treaty and we'll never be able to revive it."

Wants Guaranteed

Thus, Russell added, he decided to oppose ratification of the ban on all but underground blasts because he fears "we may be trapping ourselves into disarming without ironclad guarantees that the Russians are doing likewise."

The United States has insisted on-site inspection is necessary to detect sneak underground blasts precisely. So far as the testing environments prohibited by the treaty are concerned—the atmosphere, outer space and underwater—the government contends that most tests could be detected without on-site inspection. President Kennedy has assured the military chiefs, meanwhile, that detection systems will be sharpened while the treaty is in effect.

Still, Russell maintained, "I'm afraid that, with world pressure on us, we might agree sometime in the future to stop underground testing without demanding inspection."

Amplifying his concern, he said: "Once we have ratified this treaty, the nonnuclear nations of the world which have signed it may get together on an amendment calling for disarmament without inspection. They would be willing to trust the Russians for they have nothing to lose."

No U. N. Vetoes

"Of course, we could veto any such amendment. But we have never exercised the veto in the United Nations."

Senator Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois prepared a formal speech of endorsement of the treaty. It was based on the assurances Kennedy was expected to make, in a letter to him and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, that American military security will not be permitted to deteriorate under the pact.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said in a separate interview that he intends to press for a vote on a reservation to the resolution implementing the treaty which would delay effectiveness of the agreement until the Soviets withdraw their military forces from Cuba.

IAM Airline Strike Set For October

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The International Association of Machinists announced Tuesday it would strike United Airlines on Oct. 10.

A United spokesman, who declined to be identified, said United's industrial relations office understood the IAM was also planning Oct. 10 walkouts against six other carriers: Trans World, Northwest, Braniff, Continental, Eastern and National.

A Trans World Statement out of Kansas City emphatically denied any Trans World involvement in an IAM walkout.

In Washington, where the IAM has its headquarters, a spokesman said the union had no immediate comment on the situation.

In Minneapolis, near the Northwest headquarters, Arthur Pedersen, general manager of IAM District 143, said no strike vote was taken nor dates discussed but "such action is likely in the near future."

No immediate comment was forthcoming from Braniff, headquartered in Dallas; Continental, headquartered in Los Angeles; Eastern, headquartered in New York; or National, headquartered in Miami.

Soviet-Baiting Tactics By Red Chinese Aimed At Breaking Party Ties

BY GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — Red China's current Soviet-baiting campaign apparently is aimed at provoking the Kremlin to break state or party ties with Peking. So far Moscow has not risen to the bait.

Seemingly to sense danger, the Russians are displaying a patience that must be galling to fiery-tempered Premier Khrushchev.

Aside from propaganda attacks linking Khrushchev with the "imperialist enemy," the Red Chinese put on a rowdy two-day demonstration on the Soviet-Chinese border in Siberia last week that outraged the Russians.

The government newspaper Izvestia told its readers Tuesday what it said went on at Naushki, a border point, when the Peking-Moscow Express crossed from China Friday.

Chinese passengers openly displayed their anger.

Bloodiest Fighting In Many Months Reported Starting

CAI NUOC, South Viet Nam (AP) — Massive Communist guerrilla forces launched coordinated attacks on government towns widely scattered over Viet Nam's southern tip Tuesday and set off the bloodiest fighting in the area in many months.

This district capital temporarily was overrun by the Viet Cong and Dam Doi, 20 miles away, was burned and sacked.

Air strikes and a pitched battle fought between a Vietnamese marine battalion and fleeing guerrillas reportedly cost the enemy more than 100 killed. About 60 enemy bodies were counted by U.S. advisors.

Improvised Morgue

District headquarters at Dam Doi was converted today into an improvised morgue, where relatives came to claim bodies.

The U.S. Aid Mission rushed 4,000 emergency kits to survivors in the towns, including medicine, food and clothing.

In predawn attacks, the Viet Cong threw about 500 well-armed guerrillas each at Dam Doi and Cai Nuoc. The Communists also cut the road between the provincial capital of Cau Mau and the north, and attacked about six outposts.

A U.S. Air Force captain was seriously wounded by accident while blowing up the wreck of a Vietnamese air force fighter shot down in the operations Tuesday.

His name was withheld.

Weapons losses on both sides were heavy.

U. S., Red Chinese Ambassadors Meet

Envoys Exchange Curt Smiles, Half Bows in Rare Get-Together

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The 119th U.S.-Red Chinese ambassadorial meeting began today in an unusual atmosphere of clicking cameras, floodlights and security guards.

Ambassadors John Moors Cabot and Wang Ping-nan had the start of their face-to-face meeting in Warsaw's Myslowicki Palace, filmed by a local television crew at the request of Western news media.

Newsman, for probably the first time since the talks began in Geneva in 1955, were allowed into the meeting room to actually witness a brief exchange by the two ambassadors.

Cabot and Wang stood behind polished tables 10 feet apart, each flanked by three aides. They exchanged curt smiles and half bows.

Cabot then asked Wang to confirm that it was all right for the scene to be filmed. The Chinese

Outsiders left the room before the two ambassadors opened their manila folders of instructions for the talk, details of which, by agreement, almost never are made public.

Cabot generally was thought to be probing for information to help the West measure the Soviet-Chinese split and know what to expect next in such Red China-influenced areas as Laos and Viet Nam.

Thuc Leaves Rome, Told To Keep Quiet

Vatican Troubled By Diem Crackdown Against Buddhists

ROME (AP) — Archbishop Pierre Martin Ngo Dinh Thuc, brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam, abruptly left Rome today and said the Vatican had ordered him to stop talking about the situation in his country.

Pope Paul VI

The archbishop left on a plane bound for New York 24 hours after cancellation of an audience with Pope Paul VI. The Vatican is reported troubled by the recent crackdown on Buddhists by the Diem government.

Before boarding his flight he told newsmen: "I am not allowed to make any declarations owing to the veto imposed upon me by the Holy See."

Can't Speak Out

"I have been told, in effect, 'basta' (enough) because my position doesn't allow me to express myself, especially in a foreign country. To be able to speak out it would be necessary for me to have in hand a permit from the Vatican secretariat of state. Only in my own diocese may I speak."

The archbishop, center of controversy since he arrived from Saigon five days ago, had said earlier he had no intention of leaving Rome this month. He said he would stay for the resumption of the Vatican Ecumenical Council Sept. 29.

Red Tape, Excessive Washington Control

Farland Cites Disregard for Human Dignity, Waste in U. S. Foreign Aid

BY LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph S. Farland, resigning as ambassador to Panama, said today U. S. aid to Latin America would accomplish more if applied with greater concern for individual dignity and less for bureaucratic planning.

In an interview, Farland cited red tape, a lack of competent aid administration, excessive control from Washington and unduly grandiose planning among aid deficiencies he said he found in three years as U.S. envoy to Panama.

A spokesman for the Agency for International Development, which administers aid to Latin America through the Alliance for Progress program, disputed Farland's statements. He said no Panamanian aid project was undertaken "which did not have the complete and full approval of the ambassador."

Farland, 49, a Clarksburg, W. Va., native who terms himself "a liberal Republican," first entered diplomatic service as an Eisenhower administration appointee. He resigned Aug. 2 amid differences with the Kennedy administration, although he said they were not major policy differences.

Farland held open the possibility that he might run for political office, although he said he has no specific plans for this at present and no political organization behind him. A onetime FBI agent, he was a Morgantown lawyer and coal executive before joining the State Department in 1956.

An ambassador to the Dominican Republic in 1957-60 before going to Panama, Farland said he has turned down an offer of a career foreign service appointment because "I want very much to serve my country" and "I felt

Chilton District Again Will Get Integrated Funds

State Commends School Officials For Building Expansion Program

CHILTON — The Chilton School District again has been classified as integrated and will receive the top level of state aids, according to Robert C. Van Raalte, assistant superintendent for the State Department of Public Instruction.

The announcement followed a detailed review of the district's self-evaluation data sheets, which were based on the 1962-63 school year.

School officials were commended for the building expansion project now in progress. It will add nine classrooms, a swimming pool and a new cafeteria to the school plant.

The announcement also listed three recommendations to improve the school's educational program. The recommendations, however, were based on the past school year and all were complied with before they were drafted.

Ask Minutes
Primarily the state board requested a minimum of 385 minutes as the length of the school day and a minimum of 180 days of actual classroom instruction with five days of inservice training for teachers.

A new seven-period school day lasting 400 minutes, 15 more than the minimum, was introduced this year and the five-day teacher inservice training was reinstated. The school year also meets the recommendation.

The report also recommended a reduction of the number of classes with teachers having less than 15 pupils. Giving rise to the recommendation was the fact that there were "eight or nine" such classes a year, according to A. W. Gordon, superintendent.

Waupaca School Changes Above Recommendations

State Commends District for Courses, Suggests Others

WAUPACA — The list of improvements added to the curriculum and physical facilities of the Waupaca school district outweighed the state recommended improvements, the board of education was told Tuesday.

The board first heard a letter from Robert Van Raalte, assistant state superintendent of schools, which commended the district for lightening the load for high school English teachers and improved curriculum in the elementary schools but recommended a few additions.

Recommendations
George Hendrickson, superintendent of schools, then read part of the annual report which listed additions, including a completely new elementary library.

Van Raalte recommended lengthening the school year with more days of instruction and more days of inservice training for faculty members, increasing foreign languages to three and four years and adding additional courses in social studies and a counselor for the guidance department.

The board approved a recommendation by William Williams, elementary principal, and Hendrickson to add another half-day kindergarten class. It will be taught at the Riverside school in the afternoons.

The present four kindergarten classes have enrollments of from 32 to 37 while the state recommends about 30 pupils as a maximum. Hendrickson said the parents will approve the change because there presently is no kindergarten class at the Riverside school.

List Enrollment
Williams said the grade school enrollment totals 1,316 with the biggest number of students in fourth grade, which has 185 pupils. Almost half of the grade school pupils are at Central School, which has an enrollment of 615. All of the seventh and eighth graders are at the Central School.

The board approved the purchase of $7,925 in industrial arts department equipment. Hendrickson said it will consist of metal working machines, two lathes, a milling machine and welders. Most of the present equipment is for wood-working.

New Contracts
The board authorized contracts for Miss Myrtle Jensen, who will be elementary supervisor; Mrs. Hazel Hoppe, second and third grade teacher at Central School; and Mrs. Elinor Roman, fourth grade at Riverside school.

Clarence Riddle, high school principal, reported there are 600 students enrolled at the high school with the biggest concentration in the sophomore class, 161. There are 319 boys and 284 girls enrolled.

Member board Mrs. William Spiegler presented a list of items a teacher said are needed in the junior high school science department.

Williams said most of the items are available for the teacher in the central science supply and equipment room. Mrs. Spiegler said she inquired about the needs after a mother complained that her son was unable to complete a project because of a lack of equipment.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Agnes Pribner, now, who was teaching at the Sheridan School. She has accepted a position with the New London school system.

Outagamie Won't Get Port Funds for 1964

Federal Aid Will Await Outcome of Study by CAB

Federal aid for airport construction and land acquisition will not be forthcoming in 1964 for Outagamie County, supervisors learned today.

M. K. Jordan, State Aeronautics Commission chairman, informed the county board that the Federal Aviation Agency did not program the airport improvements in the 1964 request for federal aid, pending the outcome of a regional airport study by the CAB. The county requested the study in January, 1963.

Supv. Mark Catlin (Appleton), chairman of the airport committee, said a letter from Jordan was a confirmation of what the committee already knew.

Catlin said it still is possible to receive federal funds in other years for money spent next year. He said the county has received federal funds for present purchases of land for the proposed Town of Greenville site, but that funds were in the 1963 federal budget.

Jordan said he received the Federal Aviation Agency ruling in the matter from S. O. Harter, district airport engineer for the Federal Aviation Agency, in August.

Board Okays Contract for School Repair

Bonding Firm Pays On Defective Roof At New London

SHIOCTON — A contract for material to repair the roof of the elementary school was reaffirmed at a meeting of the board of education Monday night.

The material, which will be supplied by a Texas firm, will be used to repair approximately one-third of the roof on the original eight room elementary school. A representative of the roofing material company was present at the meeting to answer questions about the product, which came to the attention of the board after the original order for the material. The material will be installed by an Appleton roofing contractor.

The problem of the leaking roof on the school, which is eight years old, came before the board several months ago. Since that time the roof has been inspected by a state building inspector and a cash settlement made by the bonding company.

Bids for coal were opened, and the contract was awarded to the New London Co-Op Exchange for $12.40 per ton.

Bills for desks in the new elementary school addition were approved, and a bill for a fence that has been constructed along approximately one-half of the north boundary of the school property also was approved.

A policy was adopted requiring teachers of the school system to have a chest X-ray every year instead of every three years.

Contracts were approved for two high school teachers, Robert Fitzgerald and Wayne Wirth. Fitzgerald will be head basketball coach and teach biology, English and conservation. Wirth will teach instrumental music.

Former DA Says Solid Enforcement Staff Emerging
Outagamie County is meeting the challenge of a growing community, George Greisch, former district attorney and now a member of the Outagamie County board, told the Noon Optimist Club Monday.

He said the sheriff's department has become more complex and more personnel added, demanding more administrative work.

"We become so entrenched in our own accomplishments that we fail to realize that the men of law enforcement are keeping the paths that we follow clear from those who would challenge our right to the virtues of a free society."

Speech Teacher to Share Counseling Duties With Others

H. Lawrence Zillmer, speech teacher at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center for the last two years, has been appointed new student advisor at the Center.

His appointment was confirmed Friday by the Board of Regents and announced Tuesday by Verne Imhoff, Center director.

Zillmer will share the responsibilities of student counseling with Miss Lila Locksmith, who has been advisor to students at the Center.

Zillmer will be advisor to freshmen this year and Miss Locksmith will be advisor to sophomores. Next year Zillmer will advise the same class, who then will be sophomores, and Miss Locksmith will advise the freshmen. They will continue to change classes each year in order to keep continuity in the counseling.

Zillmer will teach one section of speech this year and will continue to head the fine arts program and advise the dramatics club. The forensics group, advised last year by Zillmer, this year will be under James Danielson new speech instructor.

Zillmer, a native of Barronett, Wis., received his bachelor's and master's degrees in speech and drama at Kansas State University. As soon as he completes his thesis he will receive a Ph.D. degree in speech and drama from the University of Wisconsin.

He was an instructor at American University, Washington, D.C., before starting work on his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin.

Zillmer is married and has three children. The family lives at 809 E. Hancock St., Appleton.

Board Okays Statement Of Committee

sonnel presented a document to the full board signed by each of the members of the committee. This document stated "Your committee has unanimously selected ONE candidate. The document was signed by Mr. Truesdale, Mr. Beno and Mr. Breiting.

7 Letter: Mr. Cotter withdrew his application. His reasons for withdrawing were (that) "he did not feel qualified to accept this position with his previous background."

FACT: This statement is totally false and in our opinion a gross injustice and insult to a man who did us the courtesy of coming to our district to discuss this position.

8 Letter: The implication of the letter was that Mr. Cotter was Mr. Beno's cousin and consequently great pressure was exerted by Mr. Beno to obtain the position for his cousin. So much pressure that a member of the board resigned.

FACT: Mr. Beno is not related to Mr. Cotter and had never met Mr. Cotter prior to his interview. The entire process of selecting a new high school principal was routine and followed a normal fact that one of those considered to be desirable withdrew his application is certainly not abnormal or unusual in any degree.

Mrs. Audrey Woods was present at the meeting. Following the reading of the statement she maintained her letter was correct and that Beno was wrong. She said she had received all the information for the letter from Truesdale, who has since resigned from the board.

Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Thomas Umet, another member of the audience, contended that Beno made the statement his cousin had applied for the principal's position following a recent board meeting.

Beno said following Tuesday's meeting, he did not make such a statement at any time. He said during the discussion with the women he was asked if his cousin had applied for the position and his answer was — "what would be wrong if he did?"

After reading the statement Beno also received approval of the board to have it printed in its entirety in The Reminder, a local advertising publication.

Esler said the publicity given the airport issue has shown others to be confused. He said the Civil Aeronautics Board has approved a $500,000 airport site other than Oshkosh but said Esler "the CAB has shown it can change its mind and it may do that again." Esler said he did not agree with Penath that it was necessary to begin construction immediately.

Supv. John Dietz (13th) said the county provided Fond du Lac and a great Green Lake counties are included in the deal of money if the bids are made this fall. He said the attitude shown by Winnebago county should not be construed that Winnebago county was approving any relocation of its present airport. (The Winnebago county airport was backing a joint airport in committee at a meeting Tuesday, nothing location.)

troopers around the schools came as a complete surprise, he said, because Wallace obviously knew they could be federalized — as they were — with nothing more than President Kennedy's signature. That could only spell checkmate.

But for whatever Wallace may have planned, the government was prepared, said the source, who asked that his name not be used. He said the various courses which would require the use of federal troops were discussed as far back as a week ago with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Restraining Order
Even while President Kennedy was warning Wallace Monday that the government would do what it must to see the federal court orders enforced, five federal judges were mulling over a Justice Department request for an order restraining Wallace from further interference with school integration.

It had been decided long in advance to let the drama play itself out on the local front as long as possible, before dropping the federal ax.

The turning point came Monday when the schools in dispute were opened—with state troopers ringing them, keeping Negroes out, allowing whites in. This was school segregation in defiance of the court orders, and the government stepped in.

The government source said he believes Wallace's eventual surrender to school integration was the result of (1) bad strategy on his own part; (2) the fact that the powerful restraining order was approved by five federal judges from Alabama, some of whom have shared Wallace's racial views, and (3) the bitter criticism he reaped from public and the Alabama press and some of his latest stand.

Reliable Report
It was reliably reported that the Justice Department would not seek court action against Wallace for calling the guardsmen after the restraining order had been issued. After all, the schools were integrated on time Tuesday and there was no interference when the school doors opened.

The source said the Kennedy administration was privately committed to getting the Negroes into the schools before classes ended Tuesday. What it would have done had the state troopers remained, instead of the National Guard, remains a secret. The government source would say only that the Negroes would have been enrolled somehow.

The administration, which felt Wallace was hankering for an open showdown with the federal government like last June's at the University of Alabama, feels it came away in good shape without providing him with the political argument that the government had taken over the state at bayonet point.

Pierre Salinger, President Kennedy's press secretary, had merely a strange grin for newsmen who asked him for comment on Wallace's charge that Kennedy was laying the groundwork for throwing the governor in jail to keep him out of next year's Democratic presidential primaries.

to have merely repeated many of the charges of Peking Radio. The ambassadorial-level talks began eight years ago with a U.S. effort to gain return of American citizens detained on the Chinese mainland.

They promise to attract increasing interest as Communist China isolates itself from the rest of the world, including its former Red allies.

Today's unusual turnout of news and cameramen was apparently what prompted Polish authorities to send uniformed police and security agents to the meeting place. Such individuals are not ordinarily seen at the Chinese-American talks.

Kennedy's Visit To Wisconsin Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., announced today that President Kennedy will visit northern Wisconsin as part of a nationwide tour to study conservation of natural resources.

Nelson said he had been notified by the White House that the President will make a trip into Wisconsin in connection with a Sept. 25 visit to Duluth, Minn.

Exact details of the President's Wisconsin visit still are being worked out. Nelson said an advance party of secret servicemen and communications and transportation technicians would visit northern Wisconsin before plans are completed.

Farland Cites Waste in U. S. Foreign Aid Plan

I could better serve without bureaucratic restraint."

He said he strongly believes in U.S. aid but "I don't think the alliance has been a huge success" and "I can see a great number of instances where we are spending too much accomplishing too little." He said he has communicated to Washington superiors what he considers to be errors in U.S. aid to Panama.

As an example, Farland named roadbuilding in Panama. He said a great need there is to open up access to interior areas so there can be economic development.

He said this can be done by building simple roads at perhaps $5,000 a mile, with Panamanians doing most of the work, rather than more elaborate highways which he said official plans call for, requiring extensive surveys and costing up to 20 times that much.

Alliance Aid Waste
On stressing the dignity of the individual, Farland said too much Alliance for Progress aid is channeled on a government-to-government basis. He said the important thing is to tap the willingness of the people to improve their own lot and this can be done by linking aid benefits more closely to them.

One illustration he cited was an AID program to train foremen in Panama. He said three American specialists were brought in but Panamanians failed to show up for training classes.

Farland said he then enlisted local support for a night school training program at the city of Colon where the teaching was provided by local businesses. He said 196 Panamanians stuck through 12 weeks of schooling three nights a week and afterward he personally handed out diplomas "that meant something to them that money couldn't buy" — and all without cost to the U.S. taxpayers.

$1 Million Price Tag
An AID spokesman said nearly $1 million being spent on Panamanian roadbuilding involves "one of the biggest access road programs in Latin America, precisely the thing Ambassador Farland is talking about."

The spokesman said the 10-year Alliance for Progress involves large, long-range social-economic goals, is only beginning to roll in its first two years, and "only an unrealistic person would expect more after a backlog of problems built up over many years."

He said AID programs which make immediate impact on the people must also be supplemented by long-term projects for economic development "to put Latin America on its feet and off U.S. aid."

Anti-Christian Demonstrations Occur in Israel

the French-directed convent school of St. Joseph near Jerusalem's commercial district. Roman Catholic sisters booted all in-door doors and called police, who arrested more than 100 demonstrators trying to break into the French mission school. One demonstrator was arrested on charges of attacking a policeman.

In Jaffa, about 100 demonstrators broke into the Church of Scotland school. School officials said the youths slapped several children, assaulted a teacher and caused some damage. Police seized placards reading, "end the disgrace of missions" and arrested seven demonstrators.

"Molested, Insulted"
Archbishop George Hakim, leader of the Greek Catholic community in Israel, witnessed the Jaffa demonstration. He told newsmen he was "molested and grossly insulted" by the youths.

In Haifa, witnesses said the demonstrators broke into the American-European Beth El Mes- and school shouting "tyrants" and "hangmen." Both Jews and non-Jews attended the school.

About 35 frightened children hid under beds and in closets. The host's physician, Dr. Elisabeth Sterling, was reported to have suffered a broken finger in a scuffle. The Beth El school's principal, Dr. Nathan Scharf of Dayton, Ohio, called police. Nine demonstrators were arrested.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said "the Israel government is vigorously opposed to any manifestation of intolerance."

Positive Education
Dr. Zerach Wharhaftig, Israel's minister of religious affairs, also condemned the demonstrations. He said positive Jewish education for all Jewish children was the only legitimate way to oppose Christian missionary efforts.

Many non-Jewish churchmen here shy away from missionary work which is unpopular with non-Orthodox as well as orthodox Jews.

The Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem insist they do not carry on missionary work. Both schools count children of United Nations personnel and members of Israel's Arab community among their students.

Birmingham Schools Integrate Peacefully

grade" school after Charles Wallace, stooled athletic director, chatted with the white pupils.

Boycott Urged
The National States Rights Party continued its campaign of pamphlet distribution urging a school boycott.

A group of 50 boys and girls at Ramsay High gathered outside, saying they were not going to class but only wanted to watch. Police told them to go to school or go home. All but three or four entered the building.

Enrollment at West End and Graymont Tuesday was off sharply but nearly normal at Hamby. The board of education said 857 enrolled at Ramsay, 575 at West End and 116 at Graymont. Expected enrollment was 900 at Ramsay, 1,498 at West End and 328 at Graymont.

Only Trouble Spot
West End was the only trouble spot in integration of schools at Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee.

The guardsmen, some of them called up three months ago to enforce integration at the University of Alabama, were not needed Tuesday as 20 Negroes entered white schools in Mobile and broke a new deadlock between Gov. George C. Wallace and the federal government.

"I can't fight bayonets with my bare hands," said Wallace. He pledged to continue his segregation fight in the courts.

Wallace called up the National Guard to block the Negroes. President Kennedy quickly placed the soldiers under federal control and prohibited them from carrying out Wallace's orders.

200 Guardsmen
About 200 Guardsmen moved into a Birmingham armory for use if requested by city authorities in keeping order.

"I'm sure we can handle it—if I didn't think so, I wouldn't hesitate to call for help," said Police Chief Jamie Moore.

A heavy force of city policemen and county officers quelled disturbances by pupils and angry adults at West End High School in Birmingham after two Negro girls entered the school.

Only about 150 white pupils stayed in West End after the Negro girls went inside. Hundreds of white pupils, joined by militant adults, jeered the Negroes and policemen. Scuffles ensued. Policemen called in the riot squad, armed with shotguns and carbines.

Clubs Used

Clubs were used to prod the crowds. Nine men were arrested, some for scuffling with officers and some for disobeying orders to move. Among those arrested was Bernie M. Carmack Jr., who said he belonged to the segregationist National States Rights party. He was arrested a week ago in a similar demonstration at another Birmingham school.

David Stanley, 18, was arrested on a charge of assaulting an officer with intent to murder in an earlier demonstration Tuesday. A small concussion grenade was thrown against the house of a Negro family Tuesday night. No one was hurt and there was no damage. It was the third bombing here in less than a week.

China Using Baiting Tactics Against Soviets played contempt for the Russians by defying customs officials, roughing up passersby and — in a crowning indignity — by urinating in the railway station, Izvestia reported.

Instead of jailing the Chinese, the Russians, on instructions from Moscow, sent the Chinese back to China Saturday. Soviet border guards confiscated anti-Soviet literature.

The Chinese who carried out the sit-in at Naushki were not private citizens engaged in spontaneous hijinks.

Well-Drilled Squads
The well-drilled squads Peking sends abroad would be incapable of creating such a scene without orders.

The impression left by this and other provocative actions by the Chinese in recent months clearly indicates a deliberate attempt to infuriate the Russians.

Wednesday, Sept. 11, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent A8

China might want a break in party or even government relations, and hopes to force Moscow to take the step or to give the Chinese the pretext for rupturing relations.

But Soviet propaganda organs in heaping abuse on the Chinese, keep well within guidelines laid down by major party statements on the Soviet-Chinese quarrel.

The major Soviet refrain is the Soviet Union's avowed dedication to peace and its opposition to alleged Chinese demands for war. Kremlin propaganda chiefs are now believed working on a reply to Peking's virulent charges against Khrushchev last week.

There is speculation in Moscow that the Chinese might be building up to a discussion of Khrushchev's activities as one of Stalin's top lieutenants and other little-known unpublished details of his career.

Another problem is the possible effect on the Soviet public of a frank discussion of topics taboo in the Soviet Union.

Bewildering Barrage
The Russians have been hit in the past six months with a bewildering barrage of sensational revelations of Soviet-Chinese enmity.

All that Westerners in Moscow have been able to learn is that most Russians profess firm opposition to the Chinese line.

Any resentment over having been kept in the dark about the dispute with Peking seems to have been overshadowed by the nationalist fervor that traditionally unites the Russians in times of trouble.

Stevens Point State Enrollment Up 263; 45 Faculty Added to Staff

STEVENS POINT — Approximately 45 new faculty members are teaching classes this week at the state college, bringing the total of full time instructors to approximately 163. Of this number, 25 are filling positions recently created by the State College Board of Regents in an effort to accommodate the spiraling enrollment which reached a peak of 2,407 in the fall of 1962 to 2,679 this year. The other 20 positions were created by retirements and resignations. In addition to the 45 full time positions, some 14 part-time assignments have been made. Minimum Age for Irish Marriages to Go Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a good sleep is possible only in a bed parallel to the earth's north-south axis.

Put Charles Dickens in a bed facing either east or west and he spent a miserable night. He shared a delusion held by many people over the centuries that the Irish have one of the world's highest average marriage age — except when lying down, of course.

(In America it's 26 for girls, 25 plus for men.)

Big news: The elephant is reported to be the only quadruped that is unable to take all four feet off the ground at the same time.

Did you know that Raymond Burr's real name is not Perry Mason but Raymond Willis Stacy?

Our quotable notables: "Worm is a tyrant until she's reduced

Americans now eat 1.3 billion meals a year outdoors and spend $166 million on backyard cooking equipment. The kitchen is losing caste.

Old Story

Old story revived: Returning from a trip abroad, Mark Twain told a customs agent his luggage contained nothing but clothing. The suspicious official rummaged through one bag, pulled out a bottle of bourbon, and demanded, "You call this clothing?" "Yes," replied Twain calmly. "That's my nightcap."

Geographical quiz Can you quickly name eight countries that begin with the letter "I"? Well, how about Iceland, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Ireland, Israel, Italy and India?

Big-hearted: We are regarded as dollar-mad by Europeans, but American individuals and corporations gave a record $6.3 billion to public philanthropic causes last year, up $680 million from 1961.

Here's a statistical reason why insurance is so high for young motorists: In 1962, teen-agers held only 7.1 per cent of the nation's driving licenses — but they were involved in 14.7 per cent of all traffic accidents.
